Commissioners say no to temporary aquifer by-law

There will be no aquifer protection bylaw presented to the Wilmington Town Meeting until next April.

Half a dozen persons led by Barbara Sullivan of the League of Women Voters (LWV), heard the chairman of the Wilmington Water & Sewer Commissioners speak on the subject last Thursday, at the regular meeting of the commission.

Chairman Arthur Smith said that the board could allow only 20 minutes for discussion, because there was other business to be done. The resulting conversation lasted two hours and five minutes.

Sullivan, speaking for the visiting group, told the commissioners that their proposed version of an aquifer protection law was the result of conversations with the Environmental Protection Agency, and the attorney general's office. The group was anxious that a law be voted, even if it was temporary, to protect Wilmington's water supply.

Smith said there were other factors. He cited the Town of Reading as a town which had a proper aquifer protection bylaw. "They went about it methodically, and identified every problem."

"We feel we must do our homework first. That is the most important thing. Through our consultant we are getting proper engineering and legal expertise."

Smith was also able to discuss the problem from a practical side. As a contractor he has been installing tanks in other towns for the past three years.

He did not mention that he was one of several persons who have, over the past few years been checking out old gas tanks in Wilmington, checking and removing them.

"The only way" said Smith "is to write a law that will establish penalties -- to write a law that is enforceable. To think of writing a temporary law -- all that means is legal problems."

"We are trying to do something which will 'do right' by our town. We want a model law, one which will not have any loose ends."

"Our biggest fear is dry cleaning fluid, paint thinner, and gasoline. The law must have teeth in it. This law (referring to that proposed by Sullivan and friends) has no teeth."

Town Manager Buzz Stapeczynski pointed out that the proposed bylaw was under Chapter 40A of the Mass. General Laws. "Many items allowed here (in the proposed bylaw) are not allowed in Wilmington."

"If we passed this bylaw right now it wouldn't help us one iota," Smith said.

Stapeczynski noted that if the bylaw were voted now it would not go into effect until it had been approved by the attorney general.

"We are talking December. If we get a new bylaw in April, then it will not be approved by the Attorney General until July. That's seven months."

Stapeczynski went on to observe that "nothing in this law talks about penalties."

"I think our biggest problem is midnight dumping -- like two barrels we found recently on the side of Route 93."

"We are going to take this bylaw to all the boards, etc., in town, and then have the town council review it. Then we will take it to the town meeting," Smith said.

"We need a law with a 'cease and desist' order. Otherwise it will just be a waste of time!"

Robber scatters money as dye packet thwarts haul

Picking up a little cash

The road was paved with money at the intersection of Routes 129 and 93 on Wednesday afternoon. A fleeing bank robber scattered his haul after a dye packet exploded in the bag, marking the money with red dye. Safety Officer Bob Shelley and Deputy Chief Bernie Nally are shown recovering the money.

"I thought it was some kind of stunt bike. He was going down the road, and all of a sudden, there was this big puff of red."

That was a witness' description of a bank robber's escape Wednesday afternoon in Wilmington, as the robber fled with a bag of money taken from the new office of the Woburn Five Cents Savings Bank on Lowell Street.

Riding east on a motorcycle, the robber had just reached the Route 93 ramp when a dye packet in the stolen money went off. Money was scattered along the side of the road for many yards. The motorcycleist had the money in a bag, possibly inside his leather coat when the dye packet exploded.

The robber entered the bank and passed a note to a teller at 12:27 p.m., and fled with about $600 to $700. No weapon was shown.

A description had him wearing a black leather jacket, brown pants and a black helmet, riding a black motorcycle.

Police later found a stolen car, which may have been used as a chase car in the robbery. The car, a blue Toyota Corolla, was found at the DeMoulas warehouse in Tewksbury. Another Corolla was reported stolen there at the same time.

Wilmington police contacted emergency rooms, theorizing that the robber may have been injured when the dye packet exploded.

The robbery was the second such incident for the bank office, which opened in June. On July 14, a hold-up occurred on the day before the bank held its ribbon-cutting ceremony.

Hearing re-opened on Oakridge Circle extension

A planning board public hearing on Oakridge Circle Extension will be re-opened October 24 to allow some modifications to the board's list of conditions. The two lot subdivision's definitive plan was recently approved with conditions.

At their meeting on Tuesday, planners voted to re-open the hearing, at the request of proponent Joe Raetano, to reconsider some of the conditions.

One condition said proponents had to obtain clear title to a right of way easement into the property to facilitate roadway construction. During Tuesday's discussion, it was brought out if the title is clear and the easement is laid out as a private way, the water department may allow town water to be brought to the site. Present plans call for private wells on each lot. The planning board said they wanted to be sure there was an alternative if the wells fail. Raetano's attorney Carol Rolf said-laying out the easement as a private way is "a concession we're willing to give." The water department, said Raetano, is still waiting for legal counsel to approve the easement.

Another condition stated that the easement and Oakridge Circle intersection must comply with subdivision rules and regulations. Town Engineer Harold Gillam sketched out a change in the intersection radius to make it easier to turn into the project. Members said they were more comfortable with the change in design.

APPRECIATION ON YOUR HOME

If you rent a home, you probably pay your landlord less in rent each month than you would pay on a mortgage for property that is similar to your rental. Why, then, do people pay more each month to own a home of their own?

Over the years, a home grows in value. The rate of appreciation will depend on many factors, especially the home's location, interest rates, and the general economic climate in the community. If, for example, you purchase property for $100,000 and it grows in value at the rate of five percent each year, after five years its value would have grown to approximately $121,000, and at 10 percent each year it goes up to $146,000. While a homeowner's property value is rising, the rent will be increasing for those who lease. An owner, on the other hand, can establish mortgage payments that will remain constant over the next 15 or 30 years. At the same time, the owner is building up equity as the mortgage is repaid and the home's value increases.

Controversy over sewer plan resolved

A joint meeting of the Wilmington Selectmen and the Wilmington Water & Sewer Commissioners, on August 17, 1989, was to be held in executive session, according to an announcement in the selectmen's meeting on August 15. Chairman Arthur Smith of the Water & Sewer Board would not allow an executive meeting, but no reporter was present because of the previous announcement.

Since that date there have been enquiries as to what did happen at that meeting. The Town Crier made three efforts to get a report of the meeting before one was finally available. (A water department employee had been home, with an illness).

The controversy about which the meeting was held was a statement which had been made by Selectman McCoy, in the selectmen's meeting. His statement was to the effect that the commissioners were allowing developers to connect into sewer lines by allowing them to cross certain private properties. McCoy had stated that this was a deviation to the Master Sewer Plan, and it could be harmful in possible litigation between the town and a developer known as IMG Investor's Management Group.

In his statements McCoy had felt that a judge could misconstrue the actions of the water & sewer commissioners. He asked about a proposed sewer on Lowell Street, near Interstate 93, and its relation to a proposed nursing home on West Street, and a proposed hotel on Fiorenza property. McCoy further stated that the commissioners should be working towards the construction of a sewer main to the high school instead of working with developers.

Chairman Smith told the joint meeting that the proposed nursing home had a proposed sewer system, and as far as he knew the hotel would require a public sewer connection.

Smith further said it was the developers who were making it possible for the commissioners to be working toward the construction of a sewer towards the high school. A group of businessmen are working towards the construction of a sewer on Main Street, and this, eventually, will make it possible to extend a sewer to the high school.

McCoy then expressed complete support of the work of the commissioners and explained that he was expressing his concern with any deviation of the sewer master plan because of his concern for the overall welfare of the town, if there were to be a case where the master plan may be deviated from.

Commissioners Smith, Ring and Baratta all expressed their concern over the statements made by McCoy at the selectmen's meeting. They felt the statements had reflected on the integrity of the board's actions, and on their own personal and professional integrity.

Smith further said that any town official or member of any board who felt there was a problem with the action of any board should speak to that board, before making any statement.

Wedgewood subdivision approved

by Arlene Surprenant

At a continued public hearing on Tuesday, members of the Wilmington Planning Board okayed a definitive subdivision plan for Wedgewood Avenue Extension. The four lot development will be built off Moore Street. It is being developed by Jay Tighe and Cranberry Estates Realty Trust.

The board originally disapproved the plan for two reasons. They said the plan lacked the approval of the board of health. That board reportedly hadn't ruled on the plan because they weren't sure of the quality of the soil and whether it would percolate.

The board had also denied a waiver request to put in a cul-de-sac which was smaller than regulations allow. The conservation commission had asked planners to approve the waiver in order to save a vernal pond which was located in the vicinity of the proposed cul-de-sac. Planners said they originally denied the request because they weren't clear where the pavement ended on the cul de sac and they were uncertain if there was enough turning room for emergency vehicles and snow plows. However, the town engineer apparently sketched the smaller cul-de-sac and convinced the board there was sufficient room for turns.

With these two issues resolved to the board's satisfaction, members said they could approve the final plan.

THE WHOLE STORY

A whole life policy has higher premiums during the first few years than a term policy of the same face amount. Whole life, however, has a feature called "cash value." It builds as a portion of each premium is put into a savings account. The rest of the premium is put into a fund by the insurance company to cover the possibility of a payout in the event of death. Thus, not only does the policyholder have his life insurance needs covered, but he will have savings on hand for retirement. He can also borrow against his cash value to meet a financial need. A term policy increases its premiums with each succeeding term, but a whole life premium remains constant. Its name is derived from the fact that its full benefits come into play when it is kept for the policyholder's whole life.

If you are unsure as to the options available to you, it would be prudent to discuss the matter with a qualified professional. Your source of information on the proper insurance coverage to keep you adequately protected is your insurance agent. We are happy to make ourselves available to you to discuss your insurance needs. Visit the office of SPINELLI INSURANCE AGENCY, INC., 90 Woburn St., Wilmington, for the quality protection you require to meet your insurance requirements. To reach us, call 658-5064. Office hours are from Mon.-Fri. 9-5.

HINT: Any amount borrowed from the cash value portion of a whole life policy is subtracted from the death benefit.

Board continues pursuit of single family homes

by Arlene Surprenant

Members of Wilmington's Affordable Housing Task Force are still interested in pursuing single family homes in the Burlington Avenue area, but only if they can be kept affordable.

Members learned Thursday that some of the potential sites failed percolation tests because of ledge. They were told by Acting Conservation Administrator Donald Nadeau that the remaining six or seven lots wouldn't be easy to develop because of the difficulty of building a road and bringing water to the sites through the ledge.

Ray Forest suggested the town engineer survey the lots in the vicinity of Burlington Avenue and determine what the costs could be. Town Manager Buzz Stapczynski suggested members talk to developer Peter DeGennaro, who is working nearby, to see if he would be interested in working something out with the lots. Members said they could sell the town-owned parcels and use the profit for seed money for other projects or perhaps have a local developer build the homes for the town.

Members also elected to continue negotiations with Mrs. Barbas, an abuttor to town-owned land off Wildwood Street, in hopes of bringing in a road and developing some multi-units near the Wildwood School. Though Chairman Jim Stewart noted that Wilmington residents don't really seem to want multi-unit developments, other members felt the public is not totally aware of the various housing terms and how such projects could work out.

Developer Jay Tighe, who was in the audience, said he felt multi-units would be accepted by residents if the task force went about developing them in the right way.

"All these wonderful ideas are not going to go anywhere unless you get the warring factions together. If you can't bring these people together, you're wasting your time," he said.

Planning Director Janet Stearns agreed to re-open talks with Mrs. Barbas.

Concom seeks clarification on lots

by Arlene Surprenant

Don Ugolini and Tom Roussell of the Wilmington Conservation Commission paid a visit to the planning board Tuesday seeking background information on a lot fronting Forest Street and an adjacent lot off Wirth Avenue. Both lots were originally owned by Charles Tynan.

The two men were disturbed because Tynan sold one of the lots which was slated to compensate for wetlands on the other parcel. They said they had problems with conveying the land because now their board has no control over the compensation area.

Ugolini and Roussell also sought clarification on the planning board's view of common driveways. Ugolini said at a prior meeting the commission proposed that Tynan use a common driveway to reach both lots to avoid impact to the wetlands. Tynan reportedly stated that the planning board wouldn't allow a common driveway. Roussell said he suspected words were being put in the planning board's "mouth."

"To my recollection, there was no discussion on a common driveway," said planner Carole Hamilton adding, however, that her board isn't very "fond" of them.

Hamilton maintained that any previous discussion was largely about frontage and not access. There may have been some misunderstanding, she said.

Roussell said in that case his board may only have two options when they meet with Tynan tonight (Wednesday). He said commissioners could either ask Tynan to withdraw his plan and file jointly with the new owner of the second parcel or they could deny the application.

WHS seniors to attend college fair

Wilmington High School seniors will have the opportunity to attend the College Fair at Merrimack College September 26. They will be accompanied to the college fair by the following members of the guidance department staff: Florence J. Athanasia, chairman and counselors, Roger F. Breakey, George F. Cogan and Julie A. Capozzi.

Over 10,000 high school seniors, their parents, teachers and guidance counselors are expecting to tour the exhibits of more than 250 colleges and universities on Monday, September 25 from 7 to 9 p.m. and Tuesday, September 26 from 9 a.m. to noon.

In addition to the representatives and exhibits of the more than 250 participating colleges and universities from across the country, this year's college fair will include information on how to qualify and apply for various forms of financial aid available to college students.

This is the 12th year that Merrimack and the New England Association of College Admissions Counselors (N.E.A.C.A.C.) will host colleges throughout New England this fall.

Prior to the field trip, college bound seniors will meet with the guidance department staff to receive information regarding the college application process, scholarships, etc.

Donates 8 acres to town

Part of a 22 acre parcel in the Bedell Estates subdivision will be turned over to the town for conservation purposes. The parcel was the subject of a recent override attempt. The Wilmington Conservation Commission had asked voters to approve an appropriation of $125,000 to purchase the land, but the attempt lost in a town meeting vote.

At Tuesday's meeting of the Wilmington Planning Board, developer Jay Tighe said he plans to give eight of the 22 acres back to Mr. Bedell, the former owner, and he will donate them to the town. He added he went to the Middlesex Canal Association as the board requested to see if they could purchase the entire parcel but they, too, have no funds.

Woburn gives okay to Inwood Office Park

It seems to be Woburn's turn, at the art of playing games along the common boundaries of Wilmington and Woburn.

Inwood Office Park, a proposed office park in Woburn has been given the green light by the Woburn Planning Board. It was described as a multi-million dollar office park, in the Monday edition of the Daily Times-Chronicle, and was approved 15 months after the initial preliminary plan had been approved by the Woburn Planning Board.

Inwood Office Park may be described as having some problems with the adjacent Town of Reading, West Street, and with the Wilmington Planning Board. The proposed park, of 50 acres, is adjacent to and easterly of Interstate Route 93. It has no provision for exit or entrance from any land in Woburn.

The park is adjacent to residential land in Reading, westerly of West Street. Reading residents have been objecting, for many months because of the traffic they expect to occur along West Street.

The park is planned to exit onto West Street near the cross-over to Route 93 in Wilmington, but nothing has ever been said or shown to the Wilmington Planning Board about the proposal.

Wilmington Town Engineer Harold Gillam, recently told the Woburn Planning Board that there had been no submission of plans to Wilmington, he told the Town Crier.

The owners of the proposed park purchased the former property of the Hupper family, the last home in Wilmington on West Street, for the purpose of providing an exit to the proposed subdivision through Wilmington. The land off West Street, in that area is zoned for industry. Because the adjacent land in Reading is entirely residential a street from Woburn could not be proposed to connect with Reading at West Street.

The Hupper house has since been torn down.

Mayor John W. Rabbitt of Woburn urged the approval by the Woburn Planning Board. He told the board members that he sympathized with the towns of Reading and Wilmington and their concerns, but "the best interests of the city of Woburn must come first."

Rabbitt said that Wilmington officials through their "very influential member of the House of Representatives, James Miceli, saw to it that the reconstruction of the New Boston Street Bridge (at the southerly end of Woburn Street, ed.) project by the state fell by the wayside in order to keep Woburn Industrial Park traffic out."

Approval of the amended plan gave the developers of the Park the green light to proceed with their site plan. That document also comes under the scrutiny of the Woburn Planning Board, but will not be ready for at least nine months.

When completed, according to documents filed with the Woburn Planning Board, the office park will be geared to provide employment for some 2,800 persons.

Games are serious business in Tewksbury

by Bill Conlon

Tewksbury takes its games rather seriously.

Last year, the DPW "Strongmen" won the water polo match during the town's first Homecoming event, beating the fire department, and a plaque was hung in the lobby of the DPW building to record the event.

Water polo, in which teams try to move a basketball over a goal line using fire hoses, was played this year by a wide range of teams at the Homecoming event. The police team took first place at Homecoming last weekend, and no time was wasted at all. The plaque was quickly taken out of the DPW building, the winning police team's brass plate was placed on the trophy, and this week the plaque could be seen in the police station's break room.

Incidentally, Officer Robert Westaway of the police department, who had his mud-spattered picture show up on these pages last week, said he has received a hefty share of flak for the photo. However, Westaway said his biggest complaint was how fire coats shrink when they get wet. He was wearing shorts. Nice try.

obituary

Ralph Cunningham

Ralph L. Cunningham, 76, died early Tuesday, Sept. 12, 1989 at a Lowell hospital following an extended illness. He was born in Newark, New Jersey November 24, 1912, but had lived in Marblehead and Barrington, N.H. prior to moving to Tewksbury a year ago.

Prior to retirement Mr. Cunningham was employed as a mechanical engineer for the General Electric Corporation.

He is survived by his son, Ralph Cunningham of Tewksbury, a daughter-in-law, Mabel L. Cunningham and two grandchildren.

A memorial service was held Friday, September 15 in the Tewksbury Funeral Home. Donations in his memory may be made to the American Heart Association, 16 Haverhill St., Andover, MA. 01810 or the National Kidney Foundation of Mass., 180 Rutherford Rd., Dedham, MA. 02026. State abandoning local housing preference, says Buckley

by Arlene Surprenant

There is a movement across Massachusetts to get away from local preference in public housing, according to Lillian Buckley, executive director of the Burlington Housing Authority. Buckley warned members of Wilmington's Affordable Housing Task Force last week that the state is already starting to put homeless families in public housing and 20 percent of all elderly housing is currently filled with mental patients across the state.

Buckley was present at Thursday's task force meeting to review the buyer selection process for such affordable housing projects in Wilmington as Shawshen River Estates, Oxbow Estates, and possibly the low cost home on Everett Avenue.

Task force chairman Jim Stewart said if Wilmington commits a certain percentage of available units to families which fall under affirmative action, the town will get 70 percent local preference rather than the traditional 60 percent. Buckley said such promises have been broken in the past and executive directors in other authorities are "very wary" of the HOP (Homeownership Opportunity) program. She warned the task force to get any promises in writing or they might not count with the state.

The task force has already completed two of its goals toward selecting people who will be awarded affordable housing units in the future. Members have established that in order to qualify as first time homebuyers under local preference, a person must be either a current Wilmington resident, a former Wilmington resident, or a current town employee. Members have also established a selection system or lottery process to award the affordable units. According to

Stewart, there will be three pools with affirmative action candidates drawn first, local preference applicants drawn second, and citizens from the balance of the state as well as applicants not chosen in the first two rounds drawn last. The successful candidates will be able to choose which unit they want as long as they qualify.

Stewart said two other tasks remain to be done. He said his board needs to develop an application form to be used in the selection process and has to review the Affirmative Fair Marketing Plan once it is drawn up by the developer of each project.

"We have a pretty good idea what we have to do," said Stewart.

Janet Stearns, planning director for the Wilmington Planning Board, said they should make sure there is an appeal process in place before the lottery is set up for applicants who think they may be unfairly treated.

"To be consistent is very important," added Buckley, who explained that if there were no consistency the board could open itself to a lawsuit.

The task force agreed to ask Corinne Delaney of the Tewksbury Housing Authority to review the selection process with members since she's been through the process and knows which pitfalls to avoid.

In other business, developer Jay Tighe said he planned to meet October 3 with the Wilmington Housing Authority to discuss turning over 11 units from Shawshen River Estates for rental units. He said since he didn't have a good reception from the housing authority in the past, members of the task force might want to accompany him to the meeting. Members declined the invitation.

Shawsheen Tech offers services to public Services available to the public are open for the school year at Shawsheen Tech.

Culinary arts students operate the Ram's Head Dining Room, a table service restaurant offering a selection of appetizers, main courses and desserts, ranging from salad plates to seafood provencale, and escargot to clam chowder. Students also prepare, package and sell individual frozen dinners as part of their training in convenience foods. These items may be ordered in the dining room.

The dining room is open for lunch Tuesday through Friday and alternate Mondays, with customers seated between 11:30 a.m. and 12:15 p.m. Same day reservations are taken at 9:30 a.m. The Ram's Head is closed during school holidays and vacations.

Appointments are now being accepted at the school's Cosmetology Clinic, which operates as a full service beauty salon. Hair cuts, permanents, coloring (including frosting), sculptured nails and scalp treatments are among the services offered by qualified juniors and seniors in the cosmetology program. Students are carefully supervised by instructors Carlo Baratta and Phyllis Mario, both of whom are experienced hairdressers and salon owners as well as teachers. Clinic appointments are available from 7:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. on days school is open.

Five dollar beauty special

For a limited time, the clinic is offering a special "Complete Day of Beauty," including a shampoo, cut, set and facial for only $5 on Mondays, Tuesdays and Wednesdays, between 7:30 and 11:30 a.m. For groups interested in including luncheon in their special day, the clinic can make dining room reservations when customers book cosmetology appointments.

Across the hall from Cosmetology wafts the aromas of baked goods, as culinary arts students prepare daily an ambitious array of breads, rolls, pastries, pies, doughnuts, muffins and bagels. The bakery is open Tuesday through Friday from 9:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. Although the bakery operates on a walk-in basis, advance orders will be accepted from community and non-profit groups within the Shawshen District.

Other Shawshen programs that accept requests from community residents and/or organizations include technical illustration, metal fabrication, and machine shop. Acceptance of jobs is dependent upon time restraints and the educational appropriateness of the project to the curriculum. For more information, call Shawshen Tech at 667-2111.

Frankly speaking

by Kevin John Sowyrda

A major policy initiative championed by the Board of Selectmen and the Wilmington Chamber of Commerce over the past years has been the town's relationship with Reading Municipal Light. The principal issues have been electric rates paid by local business and residents, Reading's unfairness in distributing profits to other communities, and the fact that Wilmington, though the largest consumer in the electric district, has been denied representation on the Reading Light Board of Directors.

The rebellion had its first victory at the 1986 annual town meeting when voters embarked on the lengthy process of separating from Reading in favor of an independent electric district.

The parleys, which to a large extent have been draped in secrecy, have recently produced an agreement leading the selectmen to introduce an article for the October special town meeting rescinding previous votes to separate from Reading. Article Five would also authorize the town to come to an agreement with Reading, and accept terms of a reimbursement schedule whereby the community will share in Reading Light's profits.

But already, Article Five faces some stiff opposition from a somewhat ironic source. Former Selectman Rocco DePasquale, who has been an ardent critic of Reading Light and who lobbied hard for an independent light district, says he's opposed to the recent agreement with Reading. Citing his disappointment with the lack of concessions Reading has made, the former selectman intends to organize the opposition to Article Five so that both the selectmen and Reading will be compelled to remain at the negotiations table until a more equitable agreement is reached.

Though the electric district has just agreed to a "citizens' advisory group," DePasquale believes that the town must continue to pursue equal representation on the Reading Light Board of Directors. "What should happen is continued negotiations for a regional light board, with all the towns sharing in the revenues based on their respective consumption," said DePasquale.

Sharing in revenues based on respective consumption has always been a philosophy which Reading refuses to accept. Though Wilmington consumes 65 percent of the power in the electric district, the new agreement would offer the community a mere $100,000 over the next two years for a grand total of $5 million by the year 2009; a figure which is hardly proportional with Wilmington's payments as the largest customer in the electric district. Rocco DePasquale notes that the town of Reading has reaped $1.2 million over the past four years thanks to Reading Light, and that a 65 percent share of these earnings, which DePasquale believes Wilmington is fairly entitled to, would amount to $250,000 annually. "They're not going after all that they should be going after," DePasquale said in reference to the Wilmington selectmen.

Still another issue, aside from the financial, is that the new agreement has possibly ignored one of the principal disputes between Wilmington and the light district. Despite the fact that Wilmington is the single largest customer we continue to be denied elected representation on the board of directors. It would be hard to imagine that after years of protest on this one point the town's people would be at all satisfied with the piecemeal offering of a 'citizen advisory group.'

That offer tends to insult our intelligence as much as our pride.

As one of the founders of this "electric light rebellion" former selectman DePasquale is frustrated and angered at the prospect of the town settling for a deal which is far less than might be achieved should Reading be kept under the gun. However, with the present budget crisis still hanging high overhead, the town manager is already planning on the first $100,000 payment from Reading as one of his budget balancing ingredients. In response, DePasquale said, "We're acting like a pack of dogs fighting over a bone."

Rocco intends to argue in favor of further negotiations with Reading and continuation of the town meeting votes for an independent electric district; until Reading agrees to a regional light board and proportional distribution of profits. "The people should not vote to rescind the vote. We should force them (Reading) back to the negotiating table seeking proportional representation and proportional sharing in profits," said DePasquale.

Meanwhile, the new agreement reached by the selectmen may be interpreted by some as the "best we can get for now" deal. Like very other rebellion in history the proponents are faced with a lack of resources for their struggle. Creating a new electric district has always been viewed as a formidable challenge. But, in the midst of a budget crisis both this and continued legal consultant fees may have made the warriors weary.

Still, it will be difficult to portray this new compromise to voters as a legitimate victory.

California dreams lost in smog

by George R. Allan

If you have ever flown into Los Angeles Airport, you have seen how the California Dream has become shrouded in smog. Often ridiculed by Johnny Carson, smog is no laughing matter, particularly for those with respiratory problems. Does California portend what we can expect for air quality in Massachusetts in the 1990's?

During the 1988 summer heat wave, the New England area broke records for high smog levels. The magnitude of the problem was demonstrated by the fact that rural areas as well as urban areas exceeded the recommended federal limits. Even Kennebunkport was not immune to smog. With fewer heat waves and stagnant air masses this summer, conditions were not right for as many smog days as last year. However, people have become more aware of poor air quality.

We all recognize smog when we see it, but what exactly is it? Ozone is the chief ingredient of smog. We need to differentiate here between "good ozone" and "bad" ozone. Good ozone is in the upper atmosphere where it filters the sun's ultraviolet rays. Bad ozone occurs at ground level when hydrocarbons from auto exhausts and nitrogen oxides from burning oil and coal combine in the presence of sunlight.

Some experts have expressed fears that unless steps are taken to reduce industrial and auto emissions, that as many as three dozen cities will resemble L.A. by the year 2000.

A nationwide survey indicates that the number of cases of asthma has increased 35 percent in the last eight years. Air pollution was cited by physicians as a major cause of the increase.

Concern over these types of facts galvanized support in Washington for new legislation on air pollution. The original federal Clean Air Act was passed in 1970. Tougher amendments were added in 1977. Since then, there has been much rhetoric, but little action. Compliance deadlines were extended, maximum limits were relaxed and enforcement was weak.

President Bush recently proposed a new Clean Air Bill that among other things will attack and seek to reduce activities that cause smog. It also recommends more reliance on methanol as a gasoline substitute. Compliance with the provisions of the Bill is estimated at 19 billion dollars annually. This Bill, its inadequacies notwithstanding, represents the first step in eight years toward cleaner air. The Reagan administration did to air quality what Dukakis did to fiscal management.

What remains to be seen is how Congress and our "I am for a kinder and gentler environment" President withstand the pressures of Detroit automakers and Big Oil. Hopefully, Bush's Clean Air proposal will not become another "Hot Air Bill."

One more local level, steps are being taken to reduce ozone by requiring less volatile gasoline to be sold during the summer months. Massachusetts joined with four other northeast states in adopting these new regulations. In addition, by the end of the year gas stations will need to install suction nozzles to trap those noxious fumes that waft from your gas tank when you fill up.

Will the Bush Bill and local initiatives return us to those pristine, smogless days of yesteryear? Hold your breath America.

A one-seventh report on the Wilmington School Committee

by Andrea Paglia

I cannot tell a lie - I did it. It's my girth, really, everyone just shrinks when I enter a room. It's not easy being subtle at five feet tall. I do try to downplay my size; but it's my personality (so I'm told) that interferes. I do have conscience though - I'm really sorry about Mr. Cain's arm. I only meant to twist it a little. I guess I don't know my own strength. Hindsight, being the best teacher, I should not have gotten so heavily involved in the process; but, I thought that's what I was elected to do.

Some kind of suicide was mentioned by a colleague; however, that too, lost by one vote - mine! Another suggested I go "on ice" for awhile, not a bad idea, after all, I do know where I can get morning hours cheap. At this point, I couldn't hide out in a locker room - could I? I could ask the WRA to reroute me; but I did help tap the funds and they can't afford it now.

Contemplating alternatives to my dilemma has caused me, at least, 20 seconds of discomfort; nonetheless, it must be addressed. I've decided if Mr. Barney Frank can keep his closet door open - so can I. So, here goes a straight forward and honest confession. I am really Jimmy Hoffa and part of a federal witness protection program. They had me as Ollie North for awhile; but I couldn't run a shredder properly. My first mistake was asking the secretary for help - Yeah, that's the ticket! Before that, I was a bridge repairman - but, after the Chappaquiddic thing, they knew I wasn't qualified. They wanted me to be a page for Mr. Studds; but I already had a sex change operation - so the cover wouldn't work. Get to know me!

Hopefully, by now, you realize I'm just having fun. Somehow, since the lake has closed you can't muster up a decent rumor; then there's always politics to turn to. The recent appointment to school committee was a good place to start. It took 11 rounds because everyone knows politicians make their decisions on the golf course - must be force of habit.

Seriously, all kidding aside, I want to congratulate and welcome Mr. Brad Jackson to school committee. I also want to thank Mr. Philip Fenton, Mrs. Peggy Kane, and Mr. James Doucette for their interest and effort. It was reassuring to know that we have many qualified and involved people going out on a limb for our children. Best wishes to each of you with your future endeavors.

Tidbits:

We are paying three coaches approximately $5,400.00 for 33 students to play football. That is about $167/year extra per each football student.

We haven't even discussed the cost of uniforms, bussing, and officials as extra costs.

We are paying approximately $3,600.00 for coaches and $5,040.00 extra for afternoon ice time for hockey. That is about $173/year extra per each hockey student.

We haven't even discussed the cost of uniforms, bussing, and officials as extra cost. We pay people to man the gates at games and we have an active Boosters Organization in Wilmington. There is something wrong with this picture.

I believe sports are good programs; however, they must be viewed honestly to maintain equitable services for all out students.

Am I talking about tidbits or bacon bits?

letter to the editor

Dear Larz:

I have not written to you in a while; however, a couple of things have arisen that I just cannot let pass without comment.

One story, in a recent edition of the Town Crier, mentioned that parents were upset that children living within a 1-1/2 mile radius of school were required to walk to school. In that same article, school committee member Shirley Callan was quoted saying she was not aware that this would have affected kindergarten and younger students. Although I do not presently have a child who falls into either of these categories, I was more than aware, by attending budget hearings and the annual town meeting in April, that this would indeed be the case.

It was mentioned more than a few times in these meetings and issues of the Town Crier, that ALL students living within the 1-1/2 mile radius would be impacted should the number of buses be reduced from the budget. At no time was the exclusion of younger students even hinted. As a final comment on this issue, I would be interested to know how many of the parents who are currently complaining, voted to override Prop 2 1/2 for the school budget which would have reinstated these buses.

The other issue that irks me, results from a letter I received from Superintendent Fay, with regard to the new pre-school program at the high school. Apparently some people question the legality of charging $58.00 a month for this trial program.

When this program was announced, the cost of $58.00 a month was also made public. In addition, because of the anticipated large number of people who would possibly want to participate, and the limited number of children who could be accepted, a lottery system was implemented to give everyone a fair chance at a spot.

My child was fortunate enough to be picked (although she has not had the same luck with Megabucks), and I must either pay the recommended 'tuition' or take my child out of the program and give someone else a chance.

This program is only a trial program, and in these days of town budgetary problems, I believe that individuals who want specific (and in this instance, special) programs, should be willing to pay toward the costs of such. In this manner, the entire tax base does not have to totally pay for a program that is not available to the entire tax base. Only those people using the program pay for that program.

Sincerely,
David J. Fitzgerald

Plant dedication

Eddie Sargent is a man held in high esteem by the Wilmington Water and Sewer Commissioners, who voted to name the new water treatment plant for him. The former superintendent of the Water Department will turn 90 in November. From left, Chairman Arthur Smith, Sargent, commissioners Noel Baratta and James Ring. They are shown at the dedication ceremonies on Saturday.

The heart of the system

When Eddie Sargent was superintendent of the Wilmington Water Department, diesel pumps were the heart of the system. The retired superintendent is shown sitting at the computer console which runs the town's new water treatment plant. Named for Sargent, the $6 million plant is a major improvement for water customers in the North Wilmington area. The plant was dedicated on Saturday.

New computer hardware to be installed in library

The week of September 24 will be a week of change in the Wilmington Public Library. The library staff will only be able to check out and check in library materials.

New computer hardware is to be installed during that week, hardware for the new automated book catalogs of the Merrimack Valley Library Consortium, of which the Wilmington Library is a member. The new hardware will improve services, allow for expansion and upgrade facilities of all libraries in the consortium.

During the week library personnel will be unable to reserve books or send for materials on interlibrary loan. New library cards are to be issued, but all card re-registrations from other libraries and replacement of lost cards will only be processed when the new system is in operation, tentatively in the first week of October.

During the upgrade period the Wilmington Library will use a special off-line workstation, to record borrowing transactions. Those transactions will later be down loaded into the database system when it resumes operation.

Information in the database itself will not be available during the upgrade period, which will curtail some library operations. The public is being asked to cooperate and do only essential business during the installation of the new computers at the central site.

Backyard gardening

Odds and ends from the telephone and mailbox:

Question: When will I know that my acorn squash are ready to harvest?

Usually mid September marks harvest time for all of the winter squashes, including butternut, buttercup, blue hubbard and acorn. They should be taken into a cold dark storage area before the end of September to prevent frost damage. It is a good idea to check them weekly. When they begin to "go" it's time to eat them, or cook them and freeze them in plastic bags.

Question: What is the date of the giant pumpkin contest at Topsfield, and will you be competing this year?

The date of the sixth annual All New England Pumpkin contest is Monday, October 9 (Columbus Day) starting at 10:30 a.m. This is the final day of the Topsfield Fair. Yes, I will be competing, and hope to have an entry weighing over 400 pounds. (This pumpkin is being grown in a friend's yard in Andover, to insure its safety. Last year's winner at Topsfield weighed 490 pounds and was grown by a gardener in Morrisville, Vermont. My entry places seventh (of 32 contestants) and weighed 387 pounds.

Question: A month ago, your column discussed squirrels. You suggested live trapping them and moving them four or five miles away. By so doing, aren't you risking separating a mother squirrel from her dependent babies?

Good question, and good point. I must admit that, as a gardener and bird feeder, I tend to put squirrels into the same negative category as mosquitoes, pigeons, Japanese beetles and woodchucks. Nevertheless your concern is admirable, and I would suggest, since squirrels breed and bear their young from February through April, it would make sense not to trap and move them during these three months.

By the age of three months, these bushy tailed tree rodents are self sufficient and quite adaptable to new surroundings. Short of shooting or poisoning them, live trapping and relocating them to a wooded area seems to me to be a reasonable method of squirrel population control.

Question: What possible earthly value are parsnips, and why would any sane person grow them in their garden? I had to eat boiled parsnips as a child, and I will never forgive my mother for doing that to me. Comments?

You will probably never be able to appreciate parsnips, due to the cruelties inflicted on you in your youth. Try to forgive your mother; parsnips were cheap way back then, and maybe economics was a factor. Many marginally sane people love parsnips, believe it or not. Try this once, and let me hear from you with your reactions; buy (or beg from a neighbor who grows them) two or three fresh parsnips. Dice them into half inch cubes, and boil them until you can barely move a fork through them. Transfer them into a lightly oiled frying pan and hash brown them slowly. Season to taste with garlic salt. I predict you'll love the results!

LILY OF THE COFFEE TABLE

Those in search of a truly unique flower grouping to fill the vase on the coffee table will find the Gloriosa Lily to be much to their liking. Also known as the Gloriosa Rothschild, this lily has red flowers with slender, waxy petals that curl in a way that makes them appear mysterious. To add to the effect, the Gloriosa Lily has tendril-like leaves with curled tips that seem to be for attachments. This is the type of flower that will appeal to children who can relate it to the hands of a main character in a ghost story. To less imaginative adults, the Gloriosa Lily is simply appealing because of its singular beauty. This is a flower that should not be mixed with other types of flowers that may detract from its unique form.

Many of the most beautiful arrangements are the most simple ones. The professional staff at A & M NURSERY AND FLORIST will personally assist you in selecting a single flower or an arrangement that will make the most out of the setting you want to enhance. We're located at 911 East Street in Tewksbury. Store hours: Monday-Saturday 8-5:30; Sunday 8-4. Telephone: 851-4472.

HINT: Lilies always make a good flower purchase because of their long-lasting beauty.

"At first I didn't want to talk about our funerals. But, now I'm glad we did."

We chose Forethought®
funeral planning

It's one of those things that's so easy to put off, put out of your mind. And I guess that's what I was doing. But, once he started asking me questions about how I wanted my funeral to be, I realized how important it is for the people we leave behind to know these things. He had no idea that I wanted a simple eulogy, and just that discussion alone started us on all sorts of other topics. I found out he doesn't like organ music. We even had a few laughs.

Forethought is funeral planning...
before the need arises

I thought planning our funerals together would be a terribly sad thing. But, actually, it brought us both a great sense of relief. Now we know neither one of us has all those decisions facing us in the future and we won't have to second-guess whether we did the right thing... did what the other one would have wanted. It's all planned and even paid for with the Forethought life insurance policy designed and approved specifically for Forethought funeral planning. And, because we're both under 90 years old, we can't be turned down for any reason. There's real peace of mind that comes with having it taken care of ahead of time with Forethought.

Say it with FLOWERS... Because of the beauty of flowers is in itself a miracle and a symbol of hope. Flowers have always belonged at weddings, church services, and at those moments when humans feeling overflows.

Floral arrangements, sprays, and live plants sent in sympathy add dignity and colorful beauty to a funeral. These floral tributes radiate a warmth that enhances the funeral setting. When words fail, flowers are as beautifully alive as a memory.

At THE FLOWER STOP FLORIST, we think you should know that flowers provide comfort to the family as well as a tribute to the one they loved.

When it represents YOU, your sentiments
deserve the BEST!

Craftsmen to demonstrate their art

The Wilmington Council for the Arts has invited all to enjoy an afternoon of demonstrations by five talented craftsmen. This show will be held Saturday, Sept. 23 from 1 to 4 p.m. at the Arts Center (old town hall, Route 62), Wilmington free of charge. This program is funded by a grant from the Massachusetts Arts Lottery.

The art of making collages will be demonstrated by Charlotte McCain. She will fascinate you by using bits of material, basically paper, to turn out a finished picture. Ms. McCain, although multi-talented, prefers the fun of making collages. She is a local, self-taught artist who has won several awards for her work, including the coveted John D. Brooks Memorial Award in the Council's recent art exhibition. This prize is given by the Council to a local artist showing outstanding ability, progress and promise.

Dorothy Geary of Woburn will demonstrate stenciling, her hobby of 25 years. Restoring and antiquing furniture led her to a desire to decorate these pieces. She tried stenciling and developed her own techniques and now uses original designs as well as the more traditional motifs. Dorothy has demonstrated for high school children, much to their delight.

Demonstrating the colorful and unique art of using stained glass to make delightful objects will be Shirley Hadfield, another local artist. She has studied her craft for several years and has been producing lovely pieces of art using this technique. You will want to see what an interesting and exacting craft this is.

Woodcarving will be shown and explained by Pat Cosman of Wakefield. She has studied her craft for 14 years and taught it for several years at the Arts and Crafts Center in Wakefield, where she also exhibits. Pat likes to work with sugar pine which lends itself nicely to carving. She prefers relief carving, particularly floral designs with lots of cut-out work.

Jean Lafavour is another local artist whose expertise covers a wide range. You have perhaps seen her original hand designs around town but were unaware of another of her many talents - jewelry making, which she will share with all of us by demonstrating on this day. She fashions necklaces and other items with sterling silver, gold, pearls, precious and semi-precious stones. She will also display some of her designs.

Don't miss the opportunity to see these craftsmen at work. Everyone is welcome to learn, watch and ask questions at this informal program.

Patten Library story hours

Tewksbury's Patten Public Library will begin six weeks of pre-school story hours Thursday, Sept. 28. Telephone registrations will begin Friday, Sept. 22 at 10 a.m.

The programs will be held for Tewksbury youngsters ages three to five and proof of age will be required.

The story hours will be held every Thursday and Friday mornings at 10 and 11 a.m. For more information call 851-6071.

Seniors to hold Harvest Fair

Wilmington Seniors' Arts and Crafts Harvest Fair and flea market will be held at the Buzzell Senior Center, 15 School St., Saturday, Oct. 14 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. and Sunday, Oct. 15 from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Many and varied tables will be offered and refreshments will be available both days.

Body analysis at Regional Health Center

The Education Department of the Regional Health Center in Wilmington will hold a computerized body composition analysis on Thursday, September 28 from 9 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. and on Thursday, October 19 from 9 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. by appointment. This painless examination will measure actual amount of body fat, lean muscle and body water.

"Lean muscle is the furnace of the body. That's where calories are burned," according to Julie Daly, R.D., nutritionist.

"Maintaining muscle mass while losing body fat is the goal of all fitness and weight loss programs. Monitoring body composition helps assure that lost weight is fat and not muscle."

Victims of frequent weight loss and regain cycles often find their metabolic rate lowered due to losses in lean muscle. Athletes who need to preserve muscle also find the computerized body composition data a useful part of their fitness routine. For the average 40 year old woman a normal body fat is 27 percent while for a 40 year old man it is 19 percent.

Trained nutritionists use the BIAc bio-impedance measurement to assess body composition. In less than five minutes a three page individualized report is printed. The nutritionist then interprets the findings with each client on an individual basis.

For more information and to pre-register for an appointment, please call 508-657-3910, ext. 567.

The Regional Health Center in Wilmington is a division of Choate-Symmes Health Services.

Globe writer to address Methodist Women's Club

Award winning columnist for the Boston Globe, Linda Weltner, will appear as a guest speaker at the Wilmington United Methodist Women's Club (UMC) on Wednesday evening, October 4. The meeting is at the Wilmington United Methodist Church, 87 Church St., in Fellowship Hall at 7:30 p.m. The public is invited.

Linda's topic, "Confessions of a Columnist: Living a Private Life in the Public Eye," will give the audience an insight into how a successful writer, author and lecturer balances both her family and a career.

Linda writes the weekly column, "Ever So Humble" which appears every Friday in the At Home Section of the Globe. Her writings touch on such topics as the problem parent, the contentment and sadness of aging, the pain of a friend's misfortune, choices, old and new, these are just a few of the many articles that have captured a loyal Weltner newspaper audience. At the completion of her presentation, listeners will have the opportunity to question the speaker.

Linda is the author of "No Place Like Home, Rooms and Reflections from One Family's Life" published by Arbor House-Morrow. Copies of her book will be available for sale, and will be autographed by the author. Tickets are $2 and $1, for senior citizens, and will be available at the church.

Looking for a good pet?

The Wilmington and Reading dog officers will be at the Wilmington Pet Shop at Colonial Park Mall on Saturday with adoptable dogs which have been picked up as strays. These dogs are in need of good homes.

Wilmington Pet will be hosting an open house from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. with free coffee and donuts, free samples of Science Diet, and an hourly drawing.

Shawsheen Elementary School

Mr. Arsenault will truly be missed at the Shawsheen. We thank him for all he has done and wish him nothing but the best as the Wildwood Elementary School's new principal.

Everyone at Shawsheen welcomes two new teachers to the staff, Susan Mercurio, grade two and Joan Connelly, grade three.

The first monthly PAC meeting was held Thursday, September 14. New officers of the Pac include Dana Gray (president), Janet Cahill (vice president), Joan Gillespie (secretary), Ann Sheehan (treasurer), Denise Trueira (publicity), and Jane Nitche (Sunshine Club hostess).

Mr. Fay addressed the group and Dr. Ladd spoke about a science enrichment program for our children. Committees were formed. A candy drive is in the works and a harvest moon pie auction has been set for Friday, October 20. Anyone interested in volunteering to help with this year's coming events, please contact a PAC officer.

The next PAC meeting will be Thursday, October 19, 7:30 p.m. in the Shawsheen cafeteria.

Two nights have been set aside for the annual open house so parents can visit the Shawsheen School and meet their child's teacher.

The open house for grades K-1-2 and Miss Girouard's fifth grade class will be held tomorrow, Sept. 21 from 7 to 9 p.m. The open house for grades 3-4-5 will be held Thursday, Sept. 28 from 7 to 9 p.m.

Parents are encouraged to take advantage of the schedule and pay a visit to the Shawsheen School.

Wildwood School

The parents of the Wildwood School had an opportunity to meet Principal Robert Arsenault and his staff members during an open house held this week. The PAC would like to thank all the parents who donated baked goods for the open house.

The PAC will be sponsoring a pizza night at Papa Gino's in Wilmington 5 till 10. Mark your calendars and let mom take the night off on Monday, September 25. Come and help raise some dough for Wildwood School.

Woburn Street School

We want to welcome you all back to the 1989-1990 school year. Our new staff members at the Woburn Street School include Linda Stillings, grade one; Patricia Lynch, grade two; Judyann Murray, grade five; Marie Shack, art; Susan Hendee, gym; Kim Maggio, speech; Ann Keelen, reading.

Also we would like to welcome back Toby Simon, music and Lenny Gagnon, computers (former physical education teacher).

Our sincere thanks to Janice Silva and her committee for the wonderful work they did in the school playground. Our children are having a good time in it.

Our next PAC meeting will be Tuesday, October 3 at 9:30 a.m. at the Woburn Street cafeteria. We are planning to finalize the Pumpkin Fair arrangements. Hope to see you all there.

As the school year starts up, we'd like to remind all schools in the Wilmington School System to send any news to the Town Crier for inclusion in this column. We'd like our readers to know about your PAC and school activities, outstanding teachers and students, upcoming events. All copy must be turned in to our office by Monday evenings. Or you may call Arlene Surprenant at 658-5696.

PERRY: Maryellen Katherine, first child to Carol (Higgins) and Philip Perry of Dean Street, Everett on June 11 at Malden Hospital.

Grandparents are Alexander Higgins of Wilmington and Jeannette Perry of Reading.

Great-grandmother is Louise Croteau, also of Reading. Carol (Higgins) Perry is formerly of Wilmington.

Exchange student in Belgium

Jennifer Hayden of Wilmington recently returned from a summer abroad as a Youth for Understanding (YFU) International Exchange student, on a scholarship sponsored by Cabot Corporation. Jennifer lived with the Hagon family in Belgium. She is the daughter of Richard and Joan Hayden and attended Wilmington High School prior to her departure.

"YFU's American Overseas program gives high school students a chance to immerse themselves in another language and culture, which helps them learn and grow in ways they never anticipated," said YFU President William M. Woessner. "The increased confidence and abilities with which students return home is invaluable."

YFU, established in 1951, is one of the world's oldest and largest nonprofit international exchange organizations, dedicated to international understanding and world peace. About 3,000 students participate in YFU's American Overseas program each year. For more information about YFU, call 1-800-TEENAGE.

Local artists' works on display

Local artist Tina Prentiss of Eames Street, exhibited Family Heirlooms in the Distinguished Artist Exhibition at the new Gallery, 400 Waltham Executive Park, for two months.

Secret Gardens, Beacon Hill, by Tina was included in the Boston Scenes Exhibition at the Copley Society of Boston, where she is a Copley Master.

Dublin Bank Wall, is in the Fall Salon of Cambridge Art Association.

Tina and Carolyn Latánision will be presenting a unique exhibit, Talk/Time, at the Copley Society September 26 to October 7. (Ms. Latánision has just received a prestigious national award, details later).

Both women have international exhibitions and corporate collection credits, and Tina's Symbolic Portraits are in the Archives of American Art.

WILMINGTON COMMUNITY FUND WALK - A - THON

SUNDAY, SEPT 24th

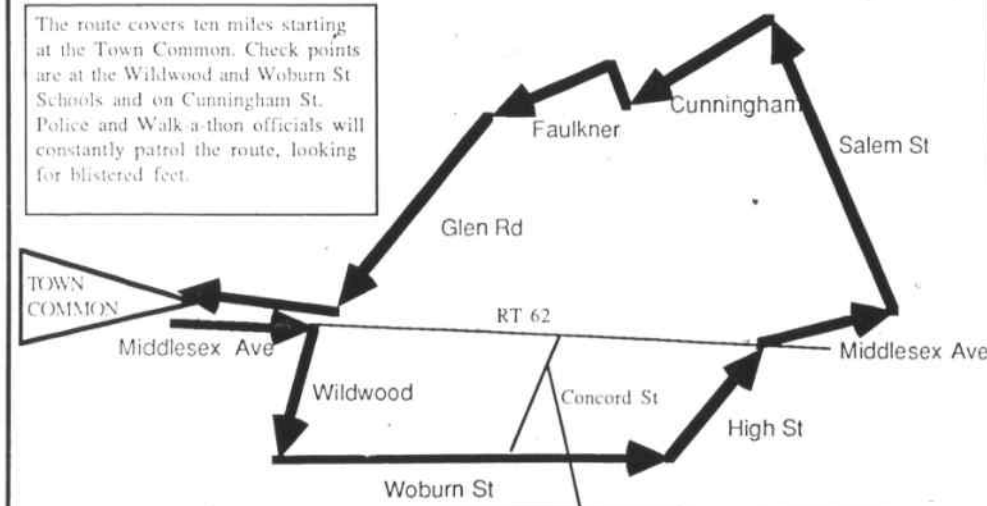

Registration: 12 noon

Walk begins: 12:30

Starting and ending at the Wilmington Town Common

The Wilmington Community Fund is an annual event for hundreds of Wilmington residents. Young and old alike turn out in support of the fund, a grass-roots, help-your-neighbor charity. Those who are preparing to walk will go door to door seeking a pledge amount for each mile of the 10 mile walk they complete. Awards are presented to the walkers or groups who raise the most money, with additional awards for the youngest and oldest participants.

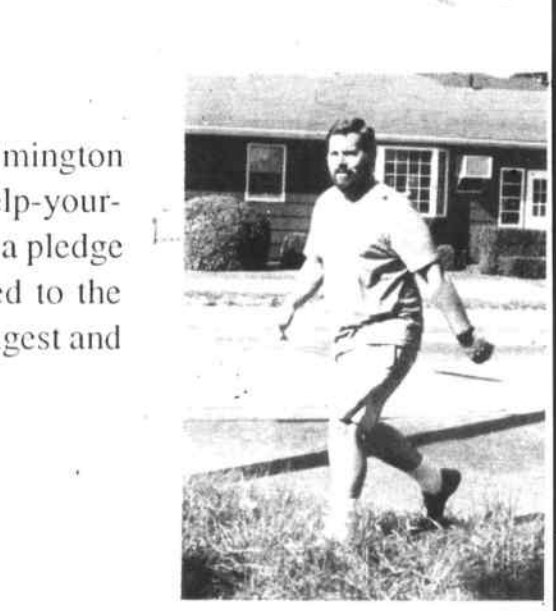

The route covers ten miles starting at the Town Common. Check points are at the Wildwood and Woburn St. Schools and on Cunningham St. Police and Walk-a-thon officials will constantly patrol the route, looking for blistered feet.

Due to problems at the photo lab, pictures of last year's winners will be published in next week's Town Crier.

Wildcats
clock Lancers

The Wilmington High School football team scored a superb 13-9 opening day victory over the Lawrence Lancers in MVC action Saturday afternoon at Alumni Field. Clockwise: Sophomore running back Bob Fleming takes off for a few of his 75 yards gained; quarterback Dennis Walsh is hauled down by the Lawrence defense after a nice gain; the WHS cheerleaders spark their team in the first quarter; Wildcat defenders Chris D'Amelio (62) and Gregg Smith (54) lead the pass rush on Lancer quarterback Emilio Colon (5); and Walsh (12) drops back to complete a pass. Dennis completed 13 passes for the game, found Bob Voner with a five yard TD strike, scored on a nine yard quarterback bootleg and kicked an extra point to help the Wildcats to victory. Senior receiver and co-captain Greg Catanzano also enjoyed a fine game for the Wildcats. (Rick Cooke photos).

Wilmington Pop Warner

Pop Warner rolls again

The Wilmington Pop Warner program continued along in fine fashion last Sunday with some of the most exciting play seen in sometime.

A' team

The Wildcat A' team finished off an exciting weekend of football for the town of Wilmington by following in the footsteps of the high school varsity team with a convincing 27-12 defeat of Acton-Boxboro.

Once again the steady play of the offensive and defensive lines gave the trio of running backs Dan Ballou, Randy Johnson and Tommy Aprile plenty of room to run wild and gave quarterbacks Scott McKenzie and Mike Alonardo plenty of time to throw, thus producing a tremendous offensive display. Touchdowns were scored by Johnson, Ballou and Aprile, while Aprile also accumulated 138 yards rushing on the day.

On the defensive side of the ball, Acton-Boxboro was completely shutdown by the aggressive play of defensive standouts Richie DeLucia, Ryan McNee, Phil Florence and Rick Blizzard.

B' team

In one of the most exciting games of recent memory, the Wildcat B' team came back from a 13-0 halftime deficit to tie the game and excite the crowd with 47 seconds remaining for a 13-13 finish.

Despite having two touchdowns called back due to penalties in the first half, the Wildcats never lost their composure and worked hard to stay within range against a strong, hard-nosed Acton B' team.

Josh Levesque began the comeback with a four yard touchdown run in the third quarter culminating a 63 yard drive following the halftime kickoff.

Wilmington's tenacious defense then went to work, stopping Acton time and time again with the likes of Steve O'Neil, Brian Ashdown, Bill Coffill and Joe Alonardo doing the job on the defensive line.

Finally, with 2:15 to go in the game Jay Iannachino intercepted an Acton pass, setting up the exciting finish that had the entire stadium unnerved with the exception of the team itself. Led by cool, calm quarterbacks Brian Tildsley and Danny Lutz, the B' team punched in the TD with 47 seconds to go, and then Mike Gilbert bulled his way in the endzone for the all-important extra point, finishing off a tremendous comeback.

Leading the offense along with Tildsley and Lutz were backs Levesque and Gilbert and linemen Jeff Senarian, Derek Riley and Billy Smith; while the rock-solid defense was led by linebackers Sean Ballou, David Sullivan and Iannachino.

The B' team is coached by Dick Gillis.

Wilmington Pop Warner

The Wilmington C team went down to defeat for the first time at the hands of a talented Acton-Boxboro team, 25-0.

Despite not scoring, the Wildcats moved the ball very well on offense, led by Rob Bentley and Sean Kerrigan. Playing good games on the line for the Wildcats were Jason Arsenault and Jason Guglielmi.

Defensively for the C team, Acton's superior speed was a little too much for the Wildcats to contend with despite some fine play on the defensive side of the ball by Kerrigan, Bentley, Richie Gillis and Billy Holloway.

D' team
The Wilmington D' team continued along on its winning ways, defeating Acton-Boxboro, 20-0.

The Wildcats used eight running backs in their convincing victory, with strong efforts turned in by Phil Bates, David Santini, Billy Harrison, Shane Warford, John Plunkett, Jamie Campbell, Tim Gillis and Dennis Torpey.

Strong line play by John Bianco, Matt Garrett, Chris DiJulia, Bryon Mason and Jimmy Cryst allowed these eight backs to run wild all afternoon. TD's were scored by Harrison (two), Campbell (one) and extra points by Gillis and Warford.

Defensively the Wildcats held Acton scoreless due to strong games by Jimmy Butler, John Stone, Adam Frost, Mike Berien, Warford and Campbell.

The teams will host Westboro this Sunday at the Glen Road Field. The action on the field is exciting and the halftime shows performed by the talented cheerleading squads are enjoyable to watch.

Plantar Warts and Laser Surgery?

Consult Northeast Podiatric!

The swelling on your foot aches or burns. You suspect it is a plantar wart, but the hustle bustle of your life doesn't allow you the time for a series of medical appointments. Then too, you're not quite sure what type of a doctor you should see.

Spare yourself further anxiety. Come to the one professional who specializes in all aspects of foot care—the Podiatrist. Northeast Podiatric doctors have been using laser technology since mid-1986, for the removal of warts and other skin lesions of the foot. One treatment with laser surgery eliminates the problem over 85 percent of the time, while traditional methods are effective only 50 percent of the time. Post-operative discomfort and physical limitations also are reduced.

When your feet hurt, let it be our headache.

Redmen open with tough MVC schedule

The Tewksbury High School boys' varsity soccer team opened its 14th season this past Monday with a tough 3-1 loss to defending Dual County League champion Concord-Carlisle in a non-conference game. On Wednesday, the Redmen opened up their conference schedule with a 0-0 tie versus large school opponent Chelmsford High School.

A 7-0 win vs. a young Methuen Ranger team may have gotten the Redmen on track, as they played with the intensity, desire, skill and intelligence needed to be considered a better than good team.

Tewksbury competes in the Merrimack Valley Small League Conference which is comprised of Dracut, Lawrence, Methuen, Tewksbury and Wilmington. The Large School Conference teams include Andover, Billerica, Central Catholic, Chelmsford, Haverhill and Lowell.

The Large School teams are allowed to schedule up to three non-conference games, while the Small Schools can schedule as many as four games. A team, in order to qualify for the State Tournament held at the end of each season, must finish either first or second in their individual conference, or qualify by attaining 59 percent of their possible win/tie points. In Tewksbury's case, with a 14 game conference schedule, and a four game non-conference schedule, the Redmen can accumulate a total of 36 points, (two points for a win; one point for a tie), and must get at least 22 points total if they do not finish in the top two of their division. As of this past Saturday, the Redmen in three total games have a win and a tie for three points and the lead in the Small School Division.

This year's varsity is primarily a veteran team, with all seniors and juniors with the possibility of one sophomore seeing some varsity action. The captains include senior fullbacks Brian Wahl and Patrick Frend along with senior forward Chris Sands. Other seniors include midfielders Greg Basillio and Gary Kidder; forwards Jamie Holden, Jose Dias and Patrick Romano; backs

Learning process

Cameron McLeod and goalkeeper Dave Karlberg.

Juniors include back Richie Proulx; midfielders Al Reitano, Mike Frasca, Jay MacMullin and back/midfielder Craig Hogan; forwards are Joey Centrella, Steven Field, Jason Elliott and part varsity/jv Brian Foster; goal-keeper/midfielder includes junior David Bell. Sophomore Steven Previte may see good action at the varsity level as a midfielder.

This week Tewksbury will have travelled to Haverhill High School on Tuesday to play against a much improved Hillies' squad. On Thursday, the Redmen go to Wilmington (North Intermediate School) JV's to the Shawsheen School in Wilmington to play the tough Wildcats. On Saturday, Tewksbury will entertain Billerica at the Conlon Field (Tewksbury Junior High) in a 10 a.m. game.

Concord-Carlisle 3 Tewksbury 1

Tewksbury, although outplayed throughout most of the first half, managed a 1-0 lead halfway through the first 40 minute half when senior midfielder Greg Basillio converted a pass from junior Jason Elliott off a throw-in from senior Pat Frend. With 10 seconds to go, Concord converted a penalty kick off a hand ball foul in the penalty area to tie the game at 1-1.

With six minutes to go in the game, Concord scored the winner off a shot from left to right into the net. The final score was just icing on the cake, as it came in a similar fashion as the second goal with 10 seconds to go in the game. Tewksbury's defense was caught up field on the goal, as they were trying for the equalizer.

Dave Karlberg in net for the Redmen was outstanding with 22 saves to nine for his counterpart from Concord. Back Pat Frend also played an excellent game on defense.

Tewksbury 0 Chelmsford 0

In an equally played game, the Redmen failed on their best chance to score on a penalty kick, and keeper Dave Karlberg stopped a breakaway to halt the Lions' best opportunity. Saves were 17 for the Chelmsford netminder, and 14 for Karlberg. Tewksbury's defense of Craig Hogan, Brian Wahl, Pat Frend and Richie Proulx played very well the entire game.

Tewksbury 7 Methuen 0

Excellent passing and shooting, good defense and the Redmen won their first game of the season 7-0 vs the Rangers of Methuen. Totally dominating the game, the Redmen outshot Methuen, 27-3, with six different individuals scoring a goal. Tewksbury took a 3-0 halftime lead. Joey Centrella took a pass from Jose Dias at the 3:05 mark and dribbled the ball into the goal area before depositing the ball in the net. At 17:44, Pat Frend converted a down-your-throat penalty kick.

The third goal of the half came with one minute to go when back Richie Proulx off a run from the weak side of the field blasted home a Joey Centrella cross. The second half was all Redmen, as midfielder Greg Basillio converted two picture perfect goals, one at 5:25 off a touch pass from Mike Frasca and the other at 22:50 off a pass from Sal Reitano.

Junior Jose Dias dribbled past two defenders off a feed from Pat Romano to score the sixth goal, and Steven Field blasted a shot by the beleaguered Methuen-keeper off another Reitano pass at the 36:30 mark of the half.

The entire team played well in this game, as keeper Dave Karlberg was given a break in this game, only making two saves.

The rain held off this past weekend just long enough for all the soccer games to be played at the Shawsheen fields. This week there is some exciting in-town action to report as well as some travel teams. Many soccer players are getting ready for next Sunday's Community Fund Walk-a-thon. Players and coaches, line up your sponsors and fill out the registration sheets (They can be picked up at school, the library, or at the soccer trailer Saturday). The Walk-a-thon starts next Sunday at noon on the common.

play were Doug Marsoobian, Derek McLaren, Jorge Guevara and goalie Eric Herlund.

Flames vs Electric Grapes

Craig Irwin, Chris Calway and Patrick Cucinotta fired the ball into the net for the Flames. Playing well on defense were Matt Jones and Brian Long. Strong action was turned in by Brian Roberts and Michael Gable. The Electric Grapes plugged in two goals and played great defense.

Boys' Division II Green Machine vs Purple Haze

The Green Machine rolled out with multiple goals by Eric Melhigan, Eric Mantey, Greg Moran and Earl Burns, along with a goal by Peter Grasso. Josh Saulnier and Earl Burns were flawless in goal, while Peter Grasso dominated the left side. Brian Vasseur played well on defense.

Eric McBride, Andy Falanga, Danny Tacio and John McInnis played well for the Purple Haze team.

Orange Crush vs Red Raiders

T.J. Flynn led the way with multiple goals for the Orange Crush team along with goals by Alex Athanassiou and Mike Nolan. Fine performances were turned in by Eric Hiltz and Chuck Vallas. Brian Thresher was a goal scorer for the Red Raiders. Assisting with fine playing skills were Brian Thresher, Matt Greenstein, Joe Marsoobian, Joe Delaney, Charlie Rice, Jason Harris and Chris Maglio.

Silver Streaks vs Blue Thunder

Mike Gennetti blazed in two goals assisted by Bob Jones and Joey Whitfield on the first one, and Terry Boland on the second for the Silver Streaks. Richard Tabor was outstanding in goal.

John Betts rolled in a goal for the Blue Thunder team and was assisted by the fine playing performances of Anthony Soroka, Jonathan Fay and Dan Sweet.

Boys' Division I Corvettes vs Camaros

Paul Ware and Adam Minor drove in two goals apiece for the Corvettes

Circus tickets
The Wilmington Recreation Department will have discounted circus tickets for the 7:30 p.m. performance on Wednesday, October 18. Call the Recreation office, 658-4270 for more information.

Fall programs
The fall flyer of all the fall Recreation Department's offerings has been distributed to the schools, the library and the Buzzell Senior Center. If you'd like a copy, stop by the Recreation office at Town Hall, Glen Road, Wilmington or call 658-4270 to have a copy sent to you. Registration will begin Wednesday, September 20 from 6:30 to 8 p.m. and any weekday thereafter from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. unless otherwise stated on the flyer.

Fall offerings include ladies fitness, gymnastics, karate, New York City trips, ballroom dancing lessons, tennis, special needs program and more.

Men's basketball meeting
There will be a men's basketball league meeting in the Recreation office Tuesday, October 10 at 8 p.m. A representative from each prospective team should be present. Anyone interested in assisting with the running of this highly successful program should contact Paul Lyman or Ron Swasey in the Recreation Department or call 658-4270.

Discounts
The Wilmington Recreation Department has discount tickets for the Showcase Cinemas, good in Woburn, Lawrence and Revere. Call 658-4270 for details or stop by the Recreation office at the Town Hall between 8:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Discounts are also available for many Florida attractions, including Magic Kingdom Club cards, Disney, Epcot, and MGM Studios; Bush Gardens, Cypress Gardens, Boardwalk and Baseball and Sea World.

Basketball
Ages eight through 15 (as of Dec. 31, 1989); $45, Saturdays, Dec., Jan., Feb., March, WHS and NIS gyms. This will mark the 27th year for the WRBL. Volunteer coaches and assistants are always needed. Every player receives a team picture and an equal number of games. Practices take place during the week and vacations throughout the season. Deadline for sign-up is Friday, October 13. Sign-up anytime, the sooner the better. Paid supervisors and officials for the WRBL and Men's League are also needed.

Men's gym night
Ages 17 and over; $25 or $3 per night; 13 weeks, Wed., 7:45 to 9:45 p.m. Dec. 6-Feb. 28. This program is for local men and their friends who wish to practice basketball in an informal manner. Sign-up any time or pay $3 per night.

Bruins tickets
We have tickets for the Saturday evening, Dec. 2 clash with St. Louis and the Tuesday, Dec. 26 battle against Toronto. Tickets to the latter would make a great Christmas gift.

Gymnastics
(Ellen Grider) Ages four through grade 12; $25, eight weeks, Sat., October 7-November 25 at WHS gym. This program includes boys, too, through grade three in co-ed classes. Basic tumbling and gymnastics games are offered. Classes are: 9 a.m. - pre-school, 10 a.m. - grades one to three, 11 a.m. and grades four through six and intermediate and advanced.

Ladies fitness
(Nancy Dumont). Adults, $35, 7 to 8 p.m. Mon and Thurs, eight weeks, Oct. 7-Nov. 27 at Shawsheen Gym. This is an excellent opportunity to initiate a personal fitness program and have some fun doing it. There will be no class on Thurs., Nov. 23.

Fur trapping rules changed

by Bill Conlon
Picture a fur-trapper and you'll probably imagine some guy dressed up like Grizzly Adams, or Jeremiah Johnson. He's dressed in bearskins, bearded and dirty, and carrying a .75 caliber Hawkins muzzle-loader.

Sorry. Modern day fur-trappers look just like other members of the plaid-shirted legion. And there are more trappers out there than you might expect. That's why the sport of trapping is covered in the same game-law booklet that deals with hunting and fishing. It's popular.

Simply put, trapping involves the use of spring-loaded traps, hidden and baited and put where animals will hopefully step on them.

But there is much, much more to trapping than that. Much more.

As of 1975, the use of steel-jaw leg-hold traps (plain old traps) has been limited to underwater use. Traps must be set in such a way that the animal trapped will drown, and the use of steel traps on dry land has been illegal. A single exception to that rule has been that you can put a steel leg-trap under a building that you own, but only there. Dry land trapping has been verboten.

Until very recently.

Something called the "soft-hold" trap came along, and a fellow was caught using them on dry land. The new trap has padded jaws that hold the animal without pain, at least in theory, and the guy was taken into court. He won. The state appealed the court decision. The trapper won again. Finally, in January of 1989 the Supreme Judicial Court of the Commonwealth ruled that charges against the guy should be dismissed.

In July, the Fisheries & Wildlife Board voted on new regulations for the padded-jaw traps.

Anyone who plans to use the soft-hold traps, and any rookie trappers, must attend a Trapper Education course. I'll give you the list of upcoming classes in a bit. Suffice it to say that before you can receive a Trapper's Registration Number (required) you must take the class.

The board changed the seasons and some rules of trapping, so toss out that part of your abstracts. The whole trapping program has been reworked. A recent press release by the Division of Fisheries & Wildlife stated that the Bay State has some of the most restrictive and comprehensive trapping laws in the nation, and they aren't kidding.

But instead of being bogged down in regulations, I decided to contact a local trapper to learn more about the field aspects of the sport. It just so happens that I bumped into such a trapper last weekend.

Ken Rapoza, newly posted to the Tewksbury Fire Department, has been a trapper for years. He's good to talk to, and he knows his stuff.

Traps are rather expensive, Ken said, and he boils and dyes his traps to make them more invisible, then stamps the devices with his number, to keep with the state regs. Putting out his trap line is Ken's favorite part of the season.

Ken said that every morning he gets up at the crack of dawn to tend his trap line, before work. All traps must be checked daily. Most often, he said, any animals caught have drowned by the time he arrives, but occasionally he must finish one off. He said that part of trapping is no fun, but it must be done.

"Every good trapper will do all he can to make sure that the animal suffers as little as possible," Ken said. Reduced stress to the animal is one of the manufacturer's claims for the soft-hold leg trap, but that just means the trapper is stuck with having to do what the water does in a regular leg-trap. Questionable.

During autumn, Ken said that the animal carcass will normally keep until he gets home from work, or he may put the animal in the fridge on a warm day. Ken said his Mom has a string of horror stories about the things she's found in the fridge. No kidding. I take flak for worms.

Then comes the actual hard work of the trapper -- tending the pelts.

All pelts must be scraped off, to remove any bits of fat and meat that may cause the skin to rot. Fleshing out a coon pelt takes Ken about a half hour, which means he's always behind in his work if the trapping has been good. Once the pelt has been fleshed, it must be stretched and dried to achieve best value.

Yes, value. Fur-trappers sell the pelts, and most wait until the end of the season to make a single trip to the furrier's shop. Ken said there's a number of firms around that will buy good pelts, but they always take stock of the skins before they write out the check.

Fur prices fluctuate considerably from year to year, Ken said, and the year of the stock market crash was awful. People just didn't want to buy a luxury item like fur with the stock market off. Makes sense.

But last year, for example, Ken said that a good raccoon pelt went for about $12, down from the pre-crash price of around $24. Coons are easy to trap, he said, and he got 27 last year without trying hard.

Fox pelts go from $20 to $24, but muskrat is selling for under $3.50 each. Beaver was also low last year and only "large blanket" pelts were being bought, he said, but you can't predict what the prices will be until you bring your furs in for sale.

Ken said there's a lot of fox in the area, so much so that many develop diseases such as mange, which ruins fur. Half a dozen fox is a good take for the season, he said. Muskrat can be hard to find, and while Ken said he doesn't try for beavers, I can tell that the population is up by all the beaver that insist upon annoying me while I'm fishing. They're all over the place.

Just as in hunting, there are "anti-trapping" forces. But hunting, and trapping, is up to the individual to decide. Besides, the license fees and voluntary taxes placed on trapping gear (and hunting and fishing gear, for that matter) do more good for wildlife than the complainers.

So forget the "Jeremiah Johnson" image of the fur trapper. Those rugged mountain men have been replaced by thoughtful sportsmen, like Ken Rapoza, who actually care about their quarry, and don't want to see them suffer. But there are still fur-trappers out there, as there have been for hundreds of years.

Oh yes, the trapping classes: Sept. 23 -- Lee Sportsman's Club, Lee, Mass.; Sept. 30 -- Concord Rod & Gun Club, Concord, Mass.; Oct. 7 -- Wankinquoah Rod & Gun Club, Wareham, Mass.; Oct. 21 -- Hunter Education Center, High Ridge WMA, Gardner. The classes start at 9 a.m., last all day, and will require four hours on another day to finish up. Call 617-727-3623 to preregister for the trapping classes.

--- Tackle Box ---

Gray squirrel season is now open in the western end of the state. But unlike most of Massachusetts, you are allowed to use .22 caliber rifles out west on the bushytails.

From September 15 until May 15 of next year, individual floatation devices (U.S.C.G. approved) must be worn in all canoes and kayaks. Not carried or sat upon, but worn!

The state Division of Waterways wants Tewksbury to move the planned boat ramp on Long Pond from the current location (near the pump house) to the earlier proposed town beach location, in that big plot of land opposite the pound. However, this week the Tewksbury Conservation Commission decided that the new location would require filling of wetlands, and a letter is being sent to the state telling them that the current ramp location is just fine, thank you. Stay tuned.

The annual fall trout stocking is getting underway, so your favorite trout spot will soon be producing again, now that the weather is cool.

Tewksbury Rotary Club has planned a deep-sea fishing jaunt for this Sunday, with yours truly in charge. But the whole trip hinges on what Hugo decides to do. Worried? Yes, a bit. Hurricanes make for rough seas, and choppy water once caused me to chum with my breakfast, as Tewksbury Rod & Gun folks may humorously remember. Not again, thank you. Time for a "Drammy."

Skating events

The Tewksbury Youth Skating Association will be holding the following events Saturday, Sept. 23 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at St. William's School Hall.

Learn to skate clinic registration: 25 one hour sessions to be held at the Janas Rink Saturdays at either 4:00 or 5:00 p.m. Hockey jerseys will be supplied, TYSA jacket sale, used equipment sale, used equipment swap and beginners equipment package sale/supplied and fitted by Joc Shoppe Tewksbury.

Wilmington charts network for emergency communications

The Town of Wilmington has established an emergency communications network which would go into operation in the event of a declared emergency.

In the event Wilmington is hit by a hurricane or some other natural disaster, residents should be aware of how to seek emergency help. If phones are out of service, police officers will be assigned to specific locations around town to receive emergency requests.

Residents may simply walk or drive to the nearest listed location, where a uniformed officer will be parked in a private vehicle, equipped with radio communication to the police station. The communications points will be at the following locations:

- Adams Street and Parker Street
- Boutwell Street School
- Chestnut Street at Skating Club
- Deming Way
- Faulkner Avenue and Beeching Avenue
- Forest Street and Swain Road
- Hathaway Road and Gunderson Road
- Kendall Street and Houghton Road
- King Street and Garden Avenue
- Lake Street and South Street
- Lawrence St. and Hamlin Lane
- Lucci's Market

- Main Street at the Woburn line
- Nichols Street and Fairmeadow Road
- North Intermediate School
- North Street and Marcia Road
- North Wilmington parking lot
- Salem Street and Royal Street
- Salem Street at MBTA Depot
- Shawheen School
- Silver Lake Drugstore
- Virginia Road (Lost Colony)
- West Street and Lowell Street
- Wildwood School
- Wilmington High School
- Wilmington Plaza
- Wilmington Woods Nursing Home on Woburn Street
- Woburn Street School

Legal issue surfaces on house foreclosure

A possible legal issue surfaced at a recent board meeting when Wilmington selectmen learned three heirs were never notified in the foreclosure of a house on Hopkins Street. The town foreclosed on the 1.24 acre property in 1988.

Attorney John Shyavitz came before the board to formally ask selectmen to vacate the foreclosure on the house. He said his clients, the three heirs, are asking the town "for fairness and equity" in allowing them to pay the back taxes and take back the home.

The home was bought by a Mr. Townley in 1977. Because the owner reportedly never paid taxes, the property was taken by the town. In the interim, the house was condemned because of structural damage and slated for demolition. When Shyavitz came forward, the demolition was put on hold.

According to Principal Assessor Tony Krzeminski, the property has a fair market value of $140,000 as of last April. A total of $13,000 in back taxes is owed on the property. Some officials have been eyeing the property for an affordable home to be added to the town's low cost housing stock.

Selectmen seemed divided on the best way to proceed. Several favored the heirs' claim, saying they may legally be the owners of the property if the land taking was done improperly.

"I think the property belongs to the children," said Chairman Bob Cain, who called for compassion on the part of the board.

Michael McCoy questioned if it would be in the town's best interest to hold up to the property.

Jim Stewart noted that "someone really messed up here" and said he would rather leave the final decision up to the land court judge so selectmen don't get in the middle of a "legal issue." He did remind the board that the town had had a right to take the house since no taxes had been paid on it for 11 years.

Selectmen opted to get a legal opinion from their own counsel before reaching a decision.

Wilmington police news

There were 40 alarms and 20 arrests in Wilmington during the week ending on September 19. Eight cases of burglary were reported, seven of larceny, nine of vandalism and two of simple assault. Four people were placed in protective custody, seven incidents of disorderly conduct were logged as well as 13 non-criminal complaints. Assistance to other agencies was rendered twice and 100 traffic tickets were issued.

During the first week of school the Wilmington Traffic Unit was assigned to extra coverage throughout the town, to slow down traffic and protect walkers. Two hundred and fifty cars were stopped for various reasons, 169 citations were written and 77 written warnings were issued.

On September 12 Nicholas Medeiros of Main Street, Tewksbury was arrested on the basis of a Lowell warrant, by Sgt. McCue. He was bailed from the Wilmington lockup to appear in Lowell Court.

At 1:40 a.m. Officer Joe Harris arrested Julio Nason of Lowell after a computer check revealed a state police warrant against him. He was released to a trooper from the Framingham barracks.

At 2 a.m. Officers Hubby and Richter and Sgts. Palmer and Duffy arrested Kevin Bannan, 18 of 276 Lowell Street and Mark Palmisano, 18, of 14 Oakridge Circle and charged them with attempting to break into a home on Park Street.

At 4 a.m. Officer Mike Begonis arrested James D. Tourville of Pelham, N.H., charging him with operating after his license had been suspended.

Robin Bouche of Revere was arrested on Sept. 13 by Officer Jim Peterson, and charged with operating after revocation of her driver's license. She was taken directly to Woburn Court.

William A. Martell, age 28, of Tewksbury was arrested Wednesday evening by Officers Miller and White. He was charged with operating after his license had been suspended, and with possession of a class D substance believed to be marijuana. A computer check revealed a Tewksbury warrant for failure to pay fines.

Thursday evening Officers White and Miller, while on Nichols Street arrested Charles W. Saunders of Foster Road, Tewksbury, and charged him with driving on a suspended license.

Kelley S. Hurley of Lowell was arrested Friday evening by Officer Charley Fiore, and charged with operating while under the influence.

Officer Joe Harris, while on patrol on Shawheen Avenue at 1 a.m. Saturday arrested Michael S. Roulund of Everett. He was charged with possession of a class D substance, believed to be marijuana and with operating a motor vehicle without a license. He was bailed for Tuesday, at Woburn Court.

Robert Corriere of Salem Road, Tewksbury was arrested Saturday evening by Officer Jim White and charged with operating after suspension of his license.

John T. Armstrong of Stoneham was arrested by Officer Bob Richter and charged with operating while under the influence. He was held for the weekend in lieu of $500 bail and taken to Woburn Court Monday morning.

Sunday at 9:30 p.m. Lecann Desjarlais, 26, of Merrimack, N.H. was arrested on Middlesex Avenue by Officer Tom Miller and charged with operating while under the influence, and with assault and battery on Officer Miller. She was held overnight to appear in Woburn Court Monday.

Monday Officer David Axelrod travelled to the Mass. Pike State Police barracks to arrest Joseph Shepard of Andover on the basis of a Wilmington warrant.

Kevin Wilson, 25, of Billerica was arrested Monday at 10:30 a.m. by Officer Jim Peterson. He was charged with operating after suspension of his license and with improper display of license plates.

Officers Chalifour and Hanlon arrested Thomas Shaughnessy of Salem, N.H. after a traffic stop on Lowell Street. He was charged with operating after his license had been suspended.

Wilmington senior topics

The Senior Citizen Fair is only three weeks away. The committee is very busy putting everything together as to the number of tables needed, the type of meal that will be served and if the weather is permitting, they will have a flea market included in the fair. So many things have to be planned in advance.

We all can make their work much easier by taking in as many articles as we can for the tables. Those can be knitted, crocheted, embroidered, crafted, woods, metal, paintings, baked, or if you have new articles that you will never use or wear you received as gifts, take them, they will be on a separate table and sold as marked. If you have the box you received them in, that will be even better.

These articles will not be put on the white elephant table. Another way we can help is to sign up if you and your family and friends will be eating their lunch at the fair. If they can get the number of seniors, it will give them a better estimate as to how much food will be needed, i.e. sandwiches, goodies, coffee, tonic and other items needed for a good lunch meal. The articles are coming in but many more will be needed especially mittens. If every one of us who knit or crochet will make one pair each, a heaping table will be filled, to the delight of all the young mothers.

Don't forget to return all chance book stubs of the books you have paid for. If you want another book, ask Louise as you enter the center.

Nurse, Sept. 21

The nurse will be at the center Thursday, Sept. 21 from 1:30 p.m. She will be giving diabetes tests, checking blood pressures and weighing seniors.

Exercise necessary

Doctors are continually recommending to us that we exercise if we want to keep our bodies mentally and physically healthy. Also if we have a health condition such as heart, lung, arthritis, cancer, diabetes, stroke or obesity, he will suggest a beneficial exercise program at least two to three hours a week.

To help our seniors get the exercise needed our exercise program is being held three days a week. On Monday and Wednesday, the council has an exercise therapist at the center from 10 to 11 a.m. On Friday mornings, at the same time the class follows along from the video. You will never know how beneficial exercise can be for you until you get started in the program. That you can do starting next Monday.

SSI checks, Sept. 29

Seniors receiving SSI checks which are normally delivered on the first day of the month will be delivered Friday, Sept. 29 according to Thomas Abbott, manager of the Lowell Social Security office. According to Mr. Abbott, benefit checks are mailed early when the delivery date falls on Saturday, Sunday or a legal holiday. Mr. Abbott said this procedure helps reduce the problem people have when they receive their checks and their banks are closed.

Congress back in session
As fall begins Congress goes back into session. Probably one of the most important bills they will be debating will be the Catastrophic Health Care Bill passed last year. This bill as it now stands is making the senior citizens of the country pay for the deficit in the government. By the year 1993, 400 billion dollars in surplus Social Security funds will be used to bail out other departments that are continually over spending their budgets. We do not mind helping out, but to make us the scapegoats we cannot tolerate. And to place insult on top of insult the Bill passed last year gives us no more health benefits than we have now with Medicare and a supplement like Medex.

Pass a better bill

We are joining all the seniors throughout the country to ask the Congress to pass a Catastrophic Health Care within the reach of all of us that will cover not only 80 percent of our hospital and physician bills, but also 80 percent of a nursing home if we have to enter one. You may say we already sent 1200 letters to the Congress on this type of Bill. Yes we did, but this is a new Congress voting now and we want to let them know we are still fighting.

Therefore, we have a petition on the counter as you enter the center, if we all sign it, we will send a copy to our Senators and Congressmen. The only way a Catastrophic Health Care Bill will be passed that will satisfy the senior citizens throughout the country is for all of us to join together. The cost of a nursing home now is $4000 to $5000 a month, which is not covered by Medicare or Medex, or by any other supplement insurance. Medicaid will cover us when we are stripped of all our assets. We may have worked hard to live our remaining years independently, but we could die in poverty.

Annual Shriners event

The Rodeo comes to Wilmington

There is only one sport that had its beginning in a major industry. Rodeo, rated by many as the most dangerous sport to the competitor, had its beginning in pioneer days before fences were built, when the cattle of neighboring ranches roamed and mingled on the open range.

During the era of the open range, it was customary for cowboys to round up and separate the cattle of various owners. When the work was done, cowboys from neighboring ranches competed with each other in roping and bronc riding. These matches grew into contests, other events were added, and the sport of rodeo was born.

Over the years the sport of rodeo has grown steadily in popularity and has spread across the United States to Canada, and even Australia and New Zealand. The rules have been refined, events have been added, but the sport still remains as one of the most exciting spectator events in the world.

You can see this blend of courage and skill that are still part of a working cowboy's life at the Shriners Championship Rodeo returning to Shriners Auditorium in Wilmington for two exciting weekends beginning Thursday, September 28th.

Rodeo S-4

THE SHRINERS RODEO comes to Wilmington next weekend and there will be plenty of thrills and spills for youngsters and the not so young that still enjoy the excitement of the rodeo.

ROVING

Dan Ferullo

PART ONE

It's the wee hours of Saturday morning. Confined to a spacious, state-of-the-art recording studio, located in a refurbished, 250-year-old mansion in southeastern Massachusetts, are Paul J. Cervone, Bob St. John and Anthony J. Resta, the triangle of creative energy behind PM Productions, one of the most hotly sought-after production companies in the music business today.

The three dynamos of talent, who have on occasion been referred to by their peers as geniuses at being able to make even a mediocre group sound like conservatory-trained musicians, are putting final touches on a demo tape for a promising, rising star by the name of J. Blue. St. John's imposing tee-shirted frame is huddled over a massive control board, and he is making his usual, last minute, let's-get-it-absolutely-perfect dial and lever adjustments, while Cervone, who looks more like a soap opera actor than a record producer, and Resta, whose bushy blonde hair and avant-garde clothing make him the perfect blind-date for Sinead O'Connor, are quietly deciding on a particular sound they want to dub over the final track of their client's tape.

BETTIE BEST WISHES ON YOUR RETIREMENT

WAKEFIELD - "I miss my kids," says Bettie Hurton, recently retired after 34 years as a traffic supervisor in Wakefield where the first days of school just haven't been the same without her.

One of the first traffic supervisors in town, she held a post at Main, Crescent and Common streets for 24 years until the Lincoln School closed. Moving then to the Hurd School, she continued her assignment as friend, helper and almost second mother to young and old. According to Wakefield Superintendent of Schools Dr. Stephen Maio, all the members of the school department - staff and students - miss her already. "She influenced generations of children with her love and caring," he says. "It's almost as if she were a member of the teaching staff."

Help the Jimmy Fund

Walk the Boston Marathon

Two famous New England institutions - the Boston Marathon and the Jimmy Fund - are teaming up to produce the First Annual Boston Marathon Jimmy Fund Walk, scheduled for Saturday, September 23. Created to raise funds for cancer research and treatment at Dana-Farber Cancer Institute, this walk is the first and only sanctioned event other than the Marathon itself - to take place along the historic race route.

The Boston Athletic Association (BAA), organizers of the Boston Marathon, announced this first official walking of the Marathon route on August 22. According to Guy Morse, Boston Marathon Race Director, "It is especially appropriate that New England's most time-honored event should lend its name and support to the region's favorite charity, the Jimmy Fund." Morse added, "It is another example of the style and philosophy of the BAA, with its rich history of community involvement and support of physical fitness programs."

New developments are creating additional excitement around the Walk in the final days before the event. The "giveaways" planned for all registered participants include a T-shirt, visor, luggage identification tag, a commemorative medallion similar to the ones awarded at the Boston Marathon, and a Polaroid picture souvenir taken of each individual walker as he/she crosses the finish line. Walkers will find themselves in the company of some of New England's best known TV and radio personalities, many of whom have agreed to Walk for Jimmy.

Bill Rodgers, the popular four-time winner of the Marathon, is honorary chairman of the Jimmy Fund Walk. According to Rodgers, "For anyone who's ever wondered what it would be like to win the Boston Marathon, this is the chance to find out. The Jimmy Fund Walk makes everyone a winner."

The Polaroid Corporation is the major sponsor of the Walk and has designed the event's logo and related print materials.

The Boston Marathon Jimmy Fund Walk is actually three walks in one. The gun goes off at 7 a.m. in Hopkinton, site of the Marathon starting line, for the full walk, which follows the historic 26-mile course into Boston, finishing at Copley Plaza. A second starting point has been created in

Newton at noon, at the Pillar House, for those wishing to complete a 10-mile course. There will also be a special short walk at approximately 3 p.m. for patients at Dana-Farber, from the Institute to the finish line. The eight water

Roving

"I've got it," Resta announces, springing away from Paul's side with enough energy to convince any on-looker that these guys have just begun their fourteen hour marathon recording session.

What's this guy up to, now? wonders Cervone, who steadfastly watches Resta dash to a corner of the studio retrieve and old Sears electric guitar, the origin of which has long been forgotten by all three, and hang it like a piñata from the ceiling.

Resta rushes from the studio and returns almost instantly with a Louisville Slugger gripped in his hands. He winds up, and like Wade Boggs unleashing on a Nolan Ryan fastball pitch, he smashes the old electric guitar to smithereens.

"That's the sound we're looking for?" Cervone queries, his eyes still rivetted to the shards of broken guitar on the floor.

"No," Resta pipes up, cracking a huge smile that bares two rabbit-like front teeth. "But it cleared my head, so now I can think better."

By the time their laughter subsided the three producers have relaxed enough to indeed come up with just the right sound needed to complete the J. Blue track. An hour and fifteen minutes later, the track finished and in the can, Cervone and Resta turn their attention to discussing their production company, which has produced clients as diverse as their production techniques. The list includes pop-metal acts such as Extreme, Rock Candy and Stun Leer, as well as J. Blue, whose "new Jack Swing" album debut is due out this fall. According to Resta, if you like Teddy Riley, you're going to love J. Blue. "His style may be in the Teddy Riley vein," he says, "but J. Blue is a unique cat. He has an incredible voice, and his energy level rockets through the ceiling."

Resta and Cervone have worked hundreds of hours producing the J. Blue album, hours which carried the three production wizards well into the early morning hours on numerous occasions. The dedication prompts the question: Is this why they call themselves PM Productions?

"Actually it stands for Pasta Meals," Cervone replies nonchalantly. Needless to say, their penchant for offbeat humor also travels with them well into the wee hours of the morning.

"No, it stands for Parrot Mode," Bob St. John interjects. They then explain that this term is an inside joke.

Resta then offers his explanation. "Pre-Madonnas," he says, adding, "which is really untrue, considering 'Borderline' came out before we started the company."

St. John finally surrenders the truth. "Yes, the name PM Productions did originate because they used to work through all hours of the night. We still do. Tonight, for example, but now we try to stop at 11 p.m."

Their efforts are paying off, their work has been compared to top producers such as Mutt Lange, Jimmy Jam and Terry Lewis, David Foster and Bruce Fairbairn.

"After two years of going non-stop, our work is finally reaching executives like Jason Flomme, at Atlantic, Sid Bernstein, and David Anderley, at A&M," Cervone notes. "We're all very excited about the prospects of the, upcoming year."

One of those prospects is a project PM Productions recently completed with a talented Boston band called Beat Surrender.

"Manager Michael Sarabian says he and the band have never been so excited," Resta points out. "He feels this is the first time their energy and power have been captured on tape."

Paul adds, "This band is no stranger to the northeast. Through the last six years, persevering through good times and bad times, Michael has finally hooked up with Hank Goldstein Associates, one of the largest entertainment law firms in the country. They've been aggressive in getting more material from the band, Michael feels that this time around, without a doubt, the difference has been PM Productions."

"From day one of working out new arrangements to the songs, to the extensive pre-production which followed, and finally to the recording of the tracks, we never missed a beat," Cervone continues. "Our team approach to recording is always an asset, and it's due to our diversified backgrounds."

Cervone was classically trained, at the New England Conservatory of Music and Boston University, where he studied under such renowned musicians as Charles Smith and Fred Buda, both of whom play for the Boston Symphony.

"My knowledge of theory, arranging, harmony and composition aid us in re-writing many of our client's material," Cervone says.

From S-3

stops and lunch stop along the way will each feature food and beverages, and participants are invited to a post-Walk celebration.

According to Mike Andrews, Executive Director of the Jimmy Fund, "Only endurance runners will ever know the thrill of competing in the Boston Marathon, but anyone in good shape can participate in this event. We've designed the Walk with families, in particular, in mind."

For anyone interested in walking or sponsoring a walker, the number to call is (617)732-3200. Registration costs $10 and an additional $90 in pledges is required. Transportation from Boston to Hopkinton or Newton will be provided free of charge.

The non-profit Boston Athletic Association is organizer of the annual Boston Marathon and has presented the world-famous road race classic since its inception in 1897.

Dana-Farber Cancer Institute is one of 20 federally designated comprehensive cancer centers and home to the Jimmy Fund.

Tap your toes to the dinosaur rock

"Dinosaur Rock" will kick off a special back to school treat for the whole family. Don't miss the chance to meet Stella Stegasaurus, Dinah Diplodocus, the Hadrosaur from Hackensack, Professor Jones and the Dinosaur lady in a musical adventure into the long-ago land of dinosaurs.

Puppeteer Ingrid Crepeau is the creator and operator of the six puppets. Michele Valeri and Michael Stein, singer, guitarist and song writer, gives these dinosaurs songs to dance to and lessons to teach.

You'll tap your toes to the music and marvel at the dinosaur-sized puppets throughout the 55 minute stage show. While the program is ideally suited to preschoolers through twelve year olds, children of all ages will delight in the antics of the dancing dinosaurs.

"Dinosaur Rock" will invade Stoneham High Auditorium on Friday, September 29 at 7 p.m.

Tickets are $4 for this delightful performance and can be purchased at the door or in advance by calling 665-3631.

Proceeds benefit school enrichment programs that bring special shows to school children all year long.

Parents of asthmatic children to meet

The Parents of Asthmatic Children (PAC), an ongoing support group sponsored by Winchester Hospital's Social Service Department and The American Lung Association will meet Thursday, September 21, at 7 p.m. in the Board Room. School issues will be discussed.

Additional information can be obtained by calling the Social Services Department at 729-9000, Ext. 3104.

CALENDAR OF EVENTS

-A Listing of Interesting Events and Happenings-

AUCTION TO INCLUDE MANY CLASSIC CARS

Imagine driving a new Jaguar for a weekend, or riding in the Pace Car at a Lime Rock Park race? Afraid of flying? Break the habit by taking lessons. Want to get away from it all? Shoot for the trip to Bermuda or a week in a Vermont farm house, and buy a 1966 912 Porsche, '66 Phantom Roll Royce, '75 Corvette, or '52 300 Mercedes or '42 Seagrave Pumper to get there.

These are only samples of items that will be auctioned off on Saturday, October 14, 1989 at the Museum of Transportation's annual Lifestyles and Wheels Benefit Auction in Larz Anderson Park (15 Newton Street, Brookline, MA.) Beginning at 7:30 p.m., auctioneer James Bakker will start things rolling to raise money for the museum's on-going education and exhibit fund. Celtics basketball star Dave Cowens will serve as celebrity auctioneer and encourage bids for Celtics tickets plus other surprise items.

Beginning at 12 noon, auction participants will have an opportunity to preview the cars and catalogued items. A festive preview party will run from 5 to 7 p.m., featuring live music by Check to Check. Those who have never participated in an auction as bidders will be introduced to the auction process, which is easy and fun.

Tickets are $20 in advance, $25 at the door and $15 for museum members. Price includes the auction catalogue, bidding number, raffle ticket, hors d'oeuvres, and access to the museum's current exhibit Putting America on Wheels: New England Paves the Way. Cash bar, black tie not required. The Museum is wheelchair accessible. For more information, call (617) 522-6140.

RAILROAD MANIA SHOW AND AUCTION

The second annual Railroad Mania Show and Auction will be held Saturday, Sept. 30, at the Grand View Farm Auction Hall in Derry, New Hampshire. The show will run from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. and the auction will begin at 3:30 p.m.

A high quality selection of railroad memorabilia will be offered by some of New England's finest railroad dealers. Some of the featured items will be hundreds of railroad photographs, hat and cap badges, lanterns of every description, railroad locks, books and timetables, annual passes and postcards. There will be Lionel, there will be HO, there will be American Flyer, and also British and European trains and accessories.

The day will conclude with an auction both full scale and model. Most anything could turn up as consignments will be accepted up until auction time.

For further information, please write to Railroad Mania Shows, P.O. Box 1662, Lewiston, Maine 04241. Telephone: 1-207-783-6843. All railroad fans are welcome!

DOG FAIR

A dog fair will be held on Saturday, September 30, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. on North Andover Common.

It's a Fun Dog Show including contests for biggest dog, best dog in costume etc. Obedience demonstrations, Canine Obstacle course, Canine Tattoo Clinic, Animal art exhibits and more, for both children and adults.

Bring the whole family and the dog. For more information, contact Marie evenings at 372-2987 or for more information on tattoo clinic call Doberman Rescue 454-9791.

OLD SOUTH ANNUAL FAIR

The Old South Church, 6 Salem Street, Reading, will be holding its annual Fair Supper on Friday, September 29th at 6:30 p.m.

The menu will be barbecued chicken, baked potato, peas, carrots, cran-apple salad, and for dessert Hawaiian Wedding Cake. Entertainment will be The De-Lites from Sweet Adelines. Tickets are $6 adults and $3 for children. For more information please call 944-9082.

WOMEN IN COMPUTING HEAR GUEST SPEAKER

On Tuesday, September 26, the Greater Boston Chapter of the Association for Women in Computing will present Margaret Hamilton as guest speaker for their September meeting.

Margaret is the Founder-President of Hamilton Technologies Inc., and is leading her staff in the development of Product 001: an advanced, new generation system software technology and associated automated tool suite for real time distributed systems. The purpose is to provide mechanisms toward generating ultra-reliable models, ultra-reliable simulations and ultra-reliable software systems that lead to maximum productivity.

From 1965 to 1976, Ms. Hamilton was the Director of the Apollo on-board flight software effort.

Ms. Hamilton received the August Ada Lovelace Award for Excellence from American Women in Computing in 1986.

For more information about the dinner meeting, contact Meg Hannon at (617) 395-8708.

CANDLELIGHTERS' CANCELLER SUPPORT GROUP

The North Shore Candlelighters, a support group for parents of children with cancer, will meet on Wednesday, September 28, at 7:30 p.m. in the Social Service Department Conference Room at Winchester Hospital.

The meeting serves as an informal forum where parents can feel comfortable sharing their feelings and their experiences and exchange information on family life with a child with cancer.

Pre-registration is requested. To register or for more information call Jeanne Dube at 729-9000, Ext. 3104.

LANDSCAPE PAINTING WORKSHOP

Have you always wanted to try landscape painting, but didn't know where to go for instruction or inspiration? Fruitlands Museums will provide you with both expert guidance and the most beautiful view in central Massachusetts as your subject matter! The Museums will present a workshop on Sunday, October 1, called Autumn Landscape Painting at Fruitlands Museums. Taught by Eileen Baker, a graduate of Clark University and the University of London's School of Art and Architecture, the program will be held from 12 to 4 p.m. with an optional tour of Fruitlands' Hudson River Paintings for inspiration.

Participants are asked to bring their own painting supplies, and beverages will be provided by Fruitlands. The fee for this workshop is $10 for members of Fruitlands Museums and $12 for all others. For more information or to make a reservation, please call the Museums Office at (508) 456-9028 or (508) 456-3924. A rain date is set for Sunday, October 8.

HELP OTHERS STOP SMOKING

WANTED: Concerned and caring people to participate in a training seminar for certification as a smoking cessation facilitator. Help others break the deadly tobacco habit through the "Freedom From Smoking" program.

Seminar dates are Thursday, October 26 and Friday, October 27. To be held at Massachusetts Medical Society in Waltham. Future dates will be added.

Contact the American Lung Association of Middlesex County at 272-2866. It's a matter of life and breath.

WEANING AND NURSING THE OLDER BABY

"Weaning and Nursing the Older Baby" will be this month's topic at the monthly Nursing Mothers Council meeting at the Wakefield Public Library, September 27 at 7 p.m. The meeting provides practical information and an opportunity for mothers to share their experiences. Mothers are welcome to bring their babies.

The Nursing Mothers Council is a group of volunteer women trained in breastfeeding counseling, and is a service provided by the Boston Association for Childbirth Education, an organization which for 35 years has been a leader in childbirth education. NMC provides 24 hour breastfeeding counseling and information, and a breast pump rental service. For more information call 245-6423.

CRAFTS FAIR '89 AT MINUTEMAN TECH

Once again the Minuteman Boosters Club of Lexington is sponsoring a Crafts Fair on Sunday, October 15, in the cafeteria from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Located at 758 Marrett Road (Rt. 2A), the school is easily accessible from exit 45B off Rt. 128. Follow the signs for Minuteman National Park. The school is located across the street.

This is the 10th year and the fair is one of the largest quality craft fairs to be held in this area. All crafters have had their work juried and this is an invitation-only show. No spaces are available. More than 80 skilled artisans from all over Massachusetts are participating.

A refreshment stand will be available and the Minuteman Bakery will be open.

Santa Claus and Mrs. Claus will be on hand for the children to visit and have their picture taken.

Admission donation is $2, $1 for senior citizens, students and children under 12 will be admitted free.

Proceeds will benefit athletes at award banquets and the scholarship fund.

WALK SET FOR WOMEN FACING CRISIS PREGNAN- CIES

In the hope of raising awareness of, and money for, women facing crisis pregnancies, more than 10,000 people will participate on Sunday, October 1 in the 3rd annual "Respect Life Walk."

The walk, sponsored by Massachusetts Citizens For Life will cover a three-mile circular course, beginning at 2 p.m. in Boston, at the corner of Beacon and Charles Streets and ending at the same location. Among the 43 benefiting organizations are numerous crisis pregnancy centers including Birthright and Pregnancy Help, Morning Star
Home and New Beginnings Home.

Walkers are encouraged to obtain sponsors who will pledge donations to these organizations.
People with questions may call Anne at (617) 242-4199.

BECOME A CERTIFIED BABYSITTER

Babysitters should know how to handle emergencies, as well as routine problems, when caring for younger children. The "Babysit-ter's Class" at New England
Memorial Hospital (NEMH), Stoneham, teaches babysitters the skills they need to supervise children properly and safely. The four-week course teaches first-aid basics, accident prevention, babydiapering, ethics and self-confidence. Successful completion of the class, which includes quizzes, results in certification for boys and girls ages 10 and older.

The "Babysitter's Class" is held in the NEMH Auditorium on Wednesday afternoons from 3:30 to 5 p.m., beginning October 4.
For more information, or to register for the program, please call the NEMH Center for Health Promotion at (617) 979-7057.

10K ROAD RACE IN MEL- ROSE

The Melrose Family YMCA
10K Road Race will take place on Sunday, October 15 at 11 a.m. A moderately flat challenging

course through Victorian Melrose is featured.

Registration and posting through computerized timing system. The fee is $8 with t-shirt, add $2 day of race. Contact Lynn Sidor at the Melrose YMCA, 497 Main Street, Melrose, 02176. For more information please call

CIDER MAKING AT STUR- BRIDGE VILLAGE

Experience the sights, sounds, and smells of cider making in the early 19th century at Old Sturbridge Village, Sturbridge, Mass. The process of making cider, a favorite New England beverage for centuries, will be demonstrated on weekends, September 23 to October 29, in the Cider Mill at the Village.
Apples will be crushed into pomace at the horsepowered mill on Saturdays and then pressed into juice on Sundays. The exhibit is open for viewing on weekdays.

During the early 19th century, farmers in rural New England towns produced their cider at a local mill which they rented from the farmer who owned it. The farmers brought their own apples, straw, and barrels to the mill,
where they ground and pressed the fruit into apple juice. The apple juice was then poured into barrels and delivered home where extra ingredients could be added to improve the taste or longevity;
rum or brandy raised the alcohol level and eggshells, charcoal, or sand prevented spoilage. The juice was allowed to ferment and the resulting beverage was cider.
Most families stored eight to ten barrels of the hard, or alcoholic, cider in their cellars. Some of the apple juice was also converted into cider molasses or vinegar for open-hearth cooking.

The Cider Mill at Old Sturbridge Village offers visitors the opportunity to see cider making as it was carried out in the 1830's. Although production methods have changed and present-day cider is non-alcoholic,

the beverage's popularity has remained constant over the years.
In addition to watching the Cider
Mill in operation at Old Sturbridge Village, visitors can purchase commercially produced, non-alcoholic cider at the Old Sturbridge Village Bake House and commercially produced, hard and mulled cider at the Bullard Tavern daily.

For more information on cider making or fall activities at Old Sturbridge Village, call 508-347-3362. People who are deaf can call telecommunications Device for he Deaf (TDD) number, 508-347-5383.

Old Sturbridge Village is open year-round. Summer hours are 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily

KIDS-SIZE ORANGES PER- FECT FOR SNACKS

CONCORD - Families are gearing up for busy fall schedules, as children head back to school.
After-school snacks are important parts of this fall ritual, especially when students arrive home from school tired and hungry.

When planning meals and snack time foods, caregivers will be glad to know that excellent supplies of nutritious valencia oranges will be in the market.
Small sizes will dominate the crop
-- the perfect kid-sized fruit,
according to Nancy Stutzman, Nutrition Home Economist with

Middlesex Cooperative Extension.
This year the fruit didn't grow as large as usual, but the smaller-sized oranges are very sweet and juicy. They are just right for children to enjoy in lunch boxes and after school.

People of all ages can enjoy these small-sized oranges. They are also easy to carry to the office for break-time.

Cooperative Extension, a division of the University of Massachusetts, Amherst, offers equal opportunity in programs and employment.

---William Horrigan - Woburn
Assistant Superintendent, Business Administration and Finance - has been named a Registered School Business Administrator, the highest professional status that can be awarded to a practicing school business administrator by the Association of School Business Officials International.

Recipients of such a title must meet the following requirements:
be a member of ASBO for at least three continuous years; have general responsibility for the overall business administration of a school district or college and report to the local board of education through the superintendent; have at least a master's degree in either educational or business administration, or another area of school administration; have spent a minimum of three years in one school or school district or five years in the school business field as a school business administrator; have the recommendation of his or her superintendent attesting to his or her experience and qualifications.

ASBO is a non-profit, independent professional educational association devoted to research, publication and discussion in the field of school business management, from kindergarten through college.

---The Winchester Public School System's Global Education Program - together with Wellesley College's Global Education Program and the Massachusetts
State Geography Alliance of Salem State College - recently sponsored "Bringing Geography into the Curriculum: A Global Approach," a 15-day global institute.

Held on the Wellesley College campus, the institute was attended by 30 Massachusetts educators on the elementary and secondary school levels. The Wellesley program is the oldest school-college collaborative international resource center of its kind.

The purposes of the summer institute were to demonstrate how the fundamental themes of geography - location, place, movement, regions, human-environment interaction - can be integrated into the curriculum; how local and regional resources may be used to teach global and geographic issues in the classroom; and how teachers can develop successful, creative strategies which use geography to enhance student learning.

---Twenty-three years of teaching experience, including 12 as an elementary school principal in Methuen, plus strong references and interviews, contributed to Dr.
Paula Sline's appointment as principal of Stoneham's North and South elementary schools - over three "inside" candidates, all of whom had completed Stoneham's administrative internship program.

According to the Stoneham Independent, school committee member Paul Rotondi feels the internship program has broader goals than training classroom teachers for administrative positions because the experience improves communications and understanding between teachers and administrators, and is a way of energizing and refreshing outstanding teachers. Not only that, the training improves their showing in interviews.

Do in-house candidates
Maureen Soley, James Coleman and Carolyn Burke - with at least 58 years of teaching experience among them - agree?

Woodchips

ANTHONY MANCONI

In case you wonder why I write, Woodchips, Emily Dickinson, said it well years ago. "If I can stop one heart from breaking and help one fallen robin into its nest again, I shall not have lived in vain." Jimmy Quinno of Woburn said, "You don't say anything about those poor readers who you have sent running for aspirins after reading your stupid column." Jimmy asked his doctor for a weight reducing diet. The doctor gave him a jar containing 500 pills. "How many of these do I take a day?" Jimmy asked. "None," replied the doctor, "you empty the jar out on the floor every morning, then you bend over and pick each pill up and put it in the jar again." In two weeks time, my friend Jimmy has LOST 59 PILLS. Some of the pills rolled under the sofa, others are somewhere behind the radiator, TV set or under a scatter rug.

Folks, the only time that we will ever really know a person is when we have to share an inheritance with him or her. When two brothers could not agree on dividing a property left to them, it required a Solomon to settle the dispute amicably. He decreed that one brother divide the property and the other brother would have first choice. You can be sure that the two parts were as equal as possible. My late Uncle John Shea called his lawyer on the phone and told him that he wanted to change his will as soon as possible. "Okay John we'll make it tomorrow in my office," the lawyer shouted. "You don't have to shout, I have one of those new invisible hearing aids so I can hear perfectly well." "Oh, I'll bet the members of your family are happy to know that." "Not really," John replied, "they don't know have it, that's why I want to change the will!"

I attended four weddings in June and two in August this summer. In every one of them I found that there wasn't much interest in the groom, either at the church ceremonies or at the reception. So I thought I'd make an exception when Joseph Ravidia got married last week. I wrote the following. Joseph Ravidia, became the groom of Cindy. He wore a two-piece tan suit. The trousers were gathered in at the waist, then fell in a straight line to the floor. The groom's coat hung loosely from the shoulders. His tie was arranged in a full Windsor Knot. His Italian made shoes were secured by dark cords interwoven through ten eyelets. Oh yes, the bride was attended by Miss Floy Mulkey, of West Overshoes, New Jersey. The best man was Bob Giguere, who had his beard trimmed for the occasion by Susan Rubbico of "Shear Perfection," of Winchester. The ushers were Johnny Ave, Bob Coleman, Sal DiCarlo and Billy Q. The church's center aisle being only six feet wide, they were forced to walk single file. The Speakeasy Quartet sang two hymns. Later at the reception they sounded much better when the basses were loaded. So there-it's about time the men get equal billing.

An undertaker married a beautiful circus snake charmer. Their towels are marked, "Hiss," and "Hearse." Many people, including former President Reagan and his wife Nancy) consult an astrologer before making any important decisions. Frank Ashley, said to me, "I've been reading Woodchips for a long time and I know from the way you write that you were born under the sign of, "Taurus the Bull!" And you Frank must have been born under the sign of, "Leo the Lion," because you are "Lying" I am a Sagittarius.

During the recent hot days a woman shopper in Cerretani's was looking over a pile of lemons. She asked my Aunt Nora who was also shopping, "Do you know anything about lemons?" "I sure do," my Aunt Nora replied, "I was married three times." I don't go to the movies anymore because motion pictures that were silent years ago are now for the most part, "Unspeakeable!"

I asked Father Thomas Foley, of Winchester, "Do you think Father Foley, that the patron saint of business, people is, Saint Francis DeSales?" Gee, I hope I'm not excommunicated for that one. I could probably be "Canonized"- made to stand in front of a cannon and shot between the eyes!" Woodchips Personality Winners are: Rocco Ciccarello, Gertrude Cray, Arline Scibold, Merle Brock, Charlotte Dike, Walter Redding, Alan Coffin, Teddy Ryan, Kelly Turner, Todd Moriarty, Grace McManus, and Susan Snide all of Stoneham. William Phelan, Larry Benoit and Carol Johnson all of Wakefield, Jim Downs, Paul Fleming, Robert Arsenault, Police Officers Chip Bruce, Paul Chalifour, Joe Harris and Mike Begonis all of Wilmington, Stephen Curran, Officer Joseph Cormier, and Bob and Barbara Corrieri all of Tewksbury, Jimmy and Suzann Geary, Guy Festa, Joseph and Marilyn Bianchi, Saul Ziner CPA, Wendy Rebidue and Father Vincent Gianni all of Lynnfield. Mike Murphy, and his lovely wife Julie, Vice Principal Peter Varoutsos, Deanna Solorzano, Paul Andrew, Charles C. Ryan, Jackie Young and Bill McGarr all of Woburn.

You know you've reached middle age when you're sitting home on Saturday night and the telephone rings and you hope it isn't for you. My little nephew, Timmy

O'Brien had to have a physical examination before entering school. The doctor asked, "Do you have any trouble with your ears or nose?" "Yes," Timmy replied, "they are always in my way when I take off my T-shirt."

Timmy's older brother Danny has started his school year like he left off last year, being late for school almost every morning. But his mother Diane found a way to get Danny to get out of bed in the morning without hesitation. Diane, tosses the cat on Danny's bed and he gets up instantly. Danny sleeps with his dog. I had to take Kathy home early from a party at the Woburn Elks. She was so tired she could hardly keep her mouth open. I was dancing with a beautiful young lady when Kathy tapped me on the shoulder and said, "remind me to put a steak on your black-eye when we get home." "What are you talking about?" I exclaimed, "I haven't got a black-eye!" "Yeah, I know," she said, "but we're not home yet!"

The judge said to my cousin Angelo Quaganti, "You say that because of the auto accident you are unable to raise your arms above your shoulders?" "Yes, your honor, that's why I can't work as a carpenter." "Will you please show the jury how high you could raise your arms before this unfortunate accident?" Angelo, stood up and instantly raised his arms up over his head like he was reaching for the stars. Folks, honesty was, is and always will be the best policy. There is no one with endurance like the man or woman who sells insurance. I'm going to ask, Spike, Jay or Brian of the Boyle Insurance Co. if they will insure my pet frog in case it, "Croaks?"

The clergyman looked over the congregation and said, "I see here this morning, a man who has lived the life of Wine, Women and Song. If I don't see a five dollar bill in the collection I am tempted to reveal his name at next Sunday's services." Later when the money was counted there were four five dollar bills and a two dollar bill with a note pinned to it saying, "I'm three dollars short, I promise to bring them next Sunday." It's impossible to have a green thumb without having "Brown Knees." An apprentice barber asked Rowan Fitzgerald, "What do you want on your face after I'm through shaving you?" A nervous Rowan exclaimed, "My nose!" Super star is Bill McGarr.

THE DAV IS COMING to Tewksbury to serve veterans and their families on September 22.

Tewksbury veterans and families to get free help

Tewksbury veterans and their families aren't alone if they're concerned about the effects of Department of Veterans Affairs (VA) benefit changes on their lives. But they'll get straight answers-free of charge-when a national service officer of the Disabled American Veterans (DAV) visits Tewksbury. The DAV van will be parked from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the DAV Chapter, 180 Pond Street in Tewksbury on September 22.

The DAV veterans' benefits expert on board is fully qualified to help veterans and their families file new and reopened claims for the full range of veterans' benefits. Veterans need not be DAV members to take advantage of these free services.

"For several years," said DAV National Service Director Arthur H. Wilson, "Veterans have heard many news reports on changes in veterans' programs and services, cutbacks in veterans' health care, and proposals to slash disability compensation payments. Also causing concern are changes in Social Security disability programs."

"The DAV can explain what all these changes mean to disabled veterans in the Tewksbury area," said Wilson. "We can explain the impact on veterans' families. If veterans are worried about their rights, they should be. That's why the DAV is coming to Tewksbury area soon. We're here to serve you."

The DAV has sent its vans, called field service units, to communities across America for 15 years now. To date, half a million veterans, dependents and survivors have used the free services offered by the highly trained DAV national service officers staffing these traveling offices. Their questions covered a broad range of programs, including disability and educational benefits, Social Security disability payments, VA medical care, military benefits, veterans' employment and training programs, and more.

"These veterans and their families came to the DAV because they know we're on their side, totally committed to making sure they get all the benefits their military service has earned," explained Wilson. "The DAV isn't a government agency. We're an association of one million disabled vets dedicated vets dedicated to helping our fellow veterans. We serve no other master. That's why we've earned the trust of America's veterans and their families of the past 69 years. Veterans or family members visiting the DAV van should bring the veterans' VA claim number, if known, and Social Security number. These are needed in filing and reopening claims."

Trivia

What's in a name: Cranberries are as American as apple pie, but when the Pilgrims arrived in the new world, they had no name for the tart fruit. According to National Wildlife magazine, the colonists believed the plant's flowers vaguely resembled the heads of cranes. They soon dubbed the plant the "crane-berry." In time the name was shortened to cranberry.

Opportunities for students to study abroad

Dick and Joan Leaver at (508)692-6655, are community representatives from ASSE International Student Exchange Programs, and are hoping to spread the news about opportunities for local students to study abroad. ASSE International is a non-profit organization which offers academic year or summer programs to high school students who are 15 to 18 years of age and interested in visiting Scandinavia, Germany, France, Switzerland, Great Britain, Holland, Spain, Italy, Mexico, Australia, New Zealand or Canada (French or English speaking).

Students qualify based upon academic performance, character references and a genuine desire to experience life abroad with a carefully screened, volunteer host family.

Local students and families who are interested in learning more about ASSE and international opportunities in our area should contact: Dick and Joan Leaver, 9 Leland Rd., Westford, 01886 or call toll free 800-333-3802.

ASSE International (Formerly American Scandinavian Student Exchange) is a non-profit, tax exempt, public benefit organization. ASSE is officially designated as an exchange visitor program by the United States Information Agency (USIA), is affiliated with the Swedish and Finnish Ministries of Education and cooperates with the Canadian Provincial Ministries of Education.

ESSEX COUNTY HARVEST FESTIVAL

SALEM- July 25, The Essex County Harvest Festival, now in its sixth year, will be held Saturday, September 23 from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the Essex Institute Museum Neighborhood in Salem. Admission to the festival is $2 per person, with children under 12 free.

The Harvest Festival will feature an Americana Craftsware Exhibition and Sale, coordinated by Claudia and Carroll Hopf of Kennebunk, Maine. Over two dozen artisans from all over the country will participate with a variety of crafts ranging from silhouettes to furniture reproductions.

Performances by area folk musicians Bob Franke of Peabody, J. Alan Hezekiah of Salem and Compass Rose of Newburyport will highlight the festival along with country dancing by the Salem Folklife Society, living history by the Society of the 17th Century and colonial children's games by the Phoenix School. Continuous crafts demonstrations and hands-on activities will be held throughout the day and hearty refreshments will be sold.

A special Harvest Festival preview party will be held to benefit the museum on Friday evening, September 22 from 6 to 9 p.m. Admission is $15 from members who purchase tickets in advance and $20 for non-members and at the door. Advanced reservations are advised and may be obtained by calling (508) 744-3390.

The Essex Institute is a regional museum which collects, preserves and interprets the history and culture of Essex County from 17th-century to the present day. Its museum neighborhood includes galleries, gardens, historic houses, a research library and a museum shop.

ROCKPORT ANNUAL GALLERY ART WORK

The Rockport Chamber of Commerce and Board of Trade is sponsoring the 4th Annual Gallery walk and Amateur Art Festival on October 13, 14, and 15.

Many of Rockport's famous artists will host an open house and demonstration in their galleries. Brouchures will be made available to guide visitors on the Gallery Walk.

The Amateur Art Festival will be held at the Rockport Art Association at 12 Main Street, Rockport.

Anyone needing further information, please write to the Rockport Chamber of Commerce and Board of Trade at P.O. Box 67, Rockport, Mass., 01966 or call (508) 546-6575.

PRESIDENT BUSH TO APPEAR AT N.H. AIR SHOW

The New England Escadrille announces their Fourth Annual Warbird Airshow, September 23 and 24, at the Manchester Airport, New Hampshire. The Warbird Airshow is sponsored by the New England Escadrille, a non-profit organization dedicated to the preservation and enjoyment of World War II and Classic aircraft. The Airshow will feature the largest display of vintage and modern warbirds in New England.

Aircraft expected for aerial and static display include P-51 Mustangs, P-40 Warhawk, T-28 and T-6 trainers, Japanese Zero and Kate, B-17 Flying Fortress,

PBY Catalina, A-26 Invader and B-25 Mitchell Bombers. Fouga, Casa, T-33 Shooting Star, Vampire, F9F Panther and MIG-17 jets. The "President Bush" TBM Avenger and the Escadrille's C-47 will make their Manchester Airshow flying debut on September 23 and 24. Over 60

vintage warbirds are expected. Additionally, U.S. Military participation expected includes C-5A Galaxy, F-15 Eagle, KC-135, P-3 Orion and UH-1 Huey Helicopter. This year's Airshow will include acrobatic and formation flying.

The airshow gates at the Manchester N.H. Airport will open to the static display area at 9 a.m. both Saturday and Sunday (Sept. 23 and 24). The aerial program is scheduled from 1 to 4 p.m. Admission at the gates is $8 for adults, $4 for children 6 to 12 and free to those under 6 years old.

It takes less than an hour to travel from the junction of Rte. 93 and Rte. 95 to the Airport

FIDDLER ON THE ROOF AT THE WANG CENTER

The 25th anniversary production of "Fiddler on the Roof" comes to Boston's Wang Center for the Performing Arts for a six-day engagement running Tuesday, October 3 through Sunday, October 8. Recreating his stage and film role as the outrageous and loveable Tevye is the internationally acclaimed actor, Topol.

The Wang Center engagement is part of a national tour that will take "Fiddler on the Roof" to Broadway in Spring of 1990. The National Touring Company of "Fiddler on the Roof" is produced by PACE Theatrical Group and Fran and Barry Weissler.

Winner of 10 Tony Awards and the recipient of the New York Drama Critics Circle Award for Best Musical, "Fiddler on the Roof" has captured the heart of a nation since its debut in 1964. This landmark musical has been performed in over 32 countries, 16 languages and has 18 original cast albums to its credit. The universal appeal of "Fiddler on the Roof" is a tribute to the magic of Joseph Stein's book, Jerry Bock's music, Sheldon Harnick's lyrics and Jerome Robbins' direction and choreography.

The Tony Award-winning score includes such memorable musical hits as, "If I Were a Rich Man," "Tattribution," "Matchmaker," "Do You Love Me" and the beautiful "Sunrise Sunset."

Mail orders are now being accepted at the Wang Center, 268 Tremont Street, Boston, Mass., 02116. Tickets will go on sale on Monday, September 11 at 10 a.m. at the Wang Center box office, at all Ticketmaster outlets and by telephone charge through Ticketmaster at (617) 787-8000. For further information, call the Wang Center at (617) 482-9393.

BOSTON SYMPHONY 109TH SEASON

Seiji Ozawa will lead the Boston Symphony Orchestra, tenor Frank Lopardo, in his BSO debut, and the Tanglewood Festival Chorus, John Oliver, conductor, in Berlioz's "Requiem," to open the orchestra's 109th season, on Thursday, September 28, at 8:30 p.m. The Opening Night Concert marks the beginning of Mr. Ozawa's 17th year as Music Director of the Boston Symphony Orchestra. For the fifth consecutive year, Bank of New England Corporation is the corporate sponsor of the Opening Night concert.

"The Boston Symphony Orchestra is one of Boston's cultural treasures. We're proud to join with them as they open their 109th season at another memorable gala Opening Night," said Walter J. Connolly, Jr., Chairman, Bank of New England Corporation.

The Opening Night concert is a project of the Boston Symphony

Association of Volunteers and is chaired this year by Mrs. Margaret Williams-DeCelles and Mrs. William H. Congleton.

Tickets for the gala Opening Night concert are priced at $33, $42, and $50, with Benefactor seats available at $275.

YARD SALE TO BENEFIT EASTER SEALS

A "YARD SALE" to benefit the Massachusetts Easter Seal Society will be held by CENTURY 21 GR Associates at 270 Main St., Stoneham, on Saturday, September 23, 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Their services include home health care, summer camp, swim program, loan of equipment, therapy teams, physical and speech therapy, and much more! See you on Sept. 23!

FALL BOATING COURSES OFFERED

Hub Division V, U.S. Coast Guard Auxiliary is offering three different courses for boaters this fall. Two are for the beginner, the other for more advanced boaters who have already completed a basic course. The courses are: BOATING SKILLS & SEAMANSHIP: Primarily for the new power boater, the course included instruction on safety afloat, legal responsibilities, aids to navigation, rules of the road, charts and compass, engines, knots, weather, boat handling and radio telephone procedure.

SAILING SKILLS & SEAMANSHIP: New or would-be sailors learn the fundamentals from seasoned pros without so much as getting their rigging wet. A real opportunity to get the low down on sailboat handling, rigging, rules of the road, heavy weather sailing, legal requirements and much more. If you don't know the difference between a jib and a jibe this course is definitely for you. Finally, there's the boating course for those of you who have already had one.

Fall previews

It may be a bit dramatic to heave a sigh of relief while muttering a quick "thank you" to the celluloid gods, but the promising outlook of this fall's film releases should encourage all of us to get out of the house and away from the just beginning onslaught of this season's mediocre TV fare.

On the immediate horizon (September 22) are several films that were showcased at the Boston Film Festival, including Romero, starring Raul Julia as Father Oscar Romero, the Archbishop of El Salvador who was martyred at the hands of a political junta in 1980. Actors Marlon Brando, Susan Sarandon, Donald Sutherland, Zakes Moli, appear in director Euzhan Palcy's A Dry White Season, about a South African schoolteacher who questions the death of a young boy in 1976. Claude Miller's film, The Little Thief, the last film inked by French director/writer Francois Truudaut, also opens on September 22.

Less high brow is Penn and Teller Get Killed, a comedy directed by Arthur Penn that looks like one of those rather silly affairs you will either just love, or just hate. Another Festival hangover is Heavy Petting, a montage of film clips, educational propaganda and celebrity interviews all dealing with their first experiences of teenage sex.

Three films not fresh from the Boston Film Festival that week include Michael Douglas' tough cop-in-Japan movie Black Rain, a delightful story of a middle-aged woman finding herself entitled Shirley Valentine and the less than heavily anticipated Leatherface - Texas Chainsaw Massacre III.

On September 29 are Welcome Home in which Kris Kristofferson plays a Vietnam vet long since presumed dead, who returns to his Vermont home and Johnny Handsome, a Walter Hill film starring Mickey Rourke as a disfigured misfit who tries to get back into the stream of life after being released from prison.

Looking ahead month by month, there seems to be plenty of imaginative product on the box office horizon, with minimal remakes and sequels. And even those look pretty interesting.

In October we can expect from Touchstone An Innocent Man, which should prove an interesting departure for Tom Selleck, who plays an average joe who gets framed for a crime he did not commit by a couple of crooked cops trying to cover up their own incompetency.

Paramount is bringing us Paul Newman in Fat Man and Little Boy, a period piece set in 1943 when some of the finest minds in the country were giving birth to the Atomic Age in a remote New Mexico laboratory.

Another big namer to open in October is Old Gringo, starring Jane Fonda, Gregory Peck and Jimmy Smits and based on Carlos Fuentes' adventure novel of passion and power during the Mexican Revolution. In Country focuses on another war, the one in Southeast Asia as Bruce Willis tries to make his 17-year-old niece, Emily Lloyd, understand the impact of war.

On a lighter note is Woody Allen's new comedy Crimes and Misdemeanors which headlines Mia Farrow, Alan Alda and Angelica Huston. Even lighter is Erik the Viking, in which a viking warrior decides that there must be more to life than rape and pillage. Directed by Monty Python Terry Jones, this quirky flick stars John Cleese, Tim Robbins, Eartha Kitt, and yes, you are seeing correctly, Mickey Rooney.

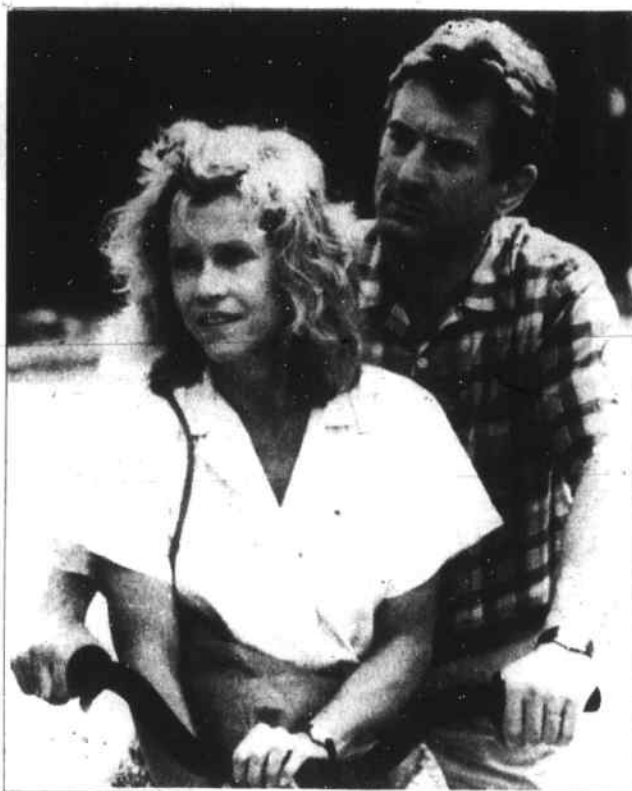

Christine Lahti plays a medical professor with Matthew Modine and Daphne Zuniga as her first-year students in Gross Anatomy. Christopher Walken and Lindsay Crouse show up in Communion as couple who are abducted by aliens. Since this is sci-fi, we can assume the 'aliens are from outer space, and not merely Canada.

Decidedly more lowbrow is Shocker, bought to us by Wes Craven, the man who introduced Freddy Krueger into our lives. This look-alike thriller showcases one Horace Pinker, a man executed in an electric chair.

Patrick Swayze stars in the cop caper Next of Kin and horror writers Jim and Ken Wheat offer up After Midnight about a young, and of course beautiful coded, who is persuaded to take a class in the psychology of fear from a creepy professor who starts holding special classes at his house after midnight. Ah huh.

There are always decent kiddie movies released in December, and this year promises a couple that actually look quite good. The big animation flick from Disney this year is The Little Mermaid, a colorful, lively underwater tale featuring a Rastafarian crab, a sea witch who looks and sounds more than a little like Pat Carroll and of course, the lithe, title character.

Don Bluth, the renegade animator who fled Disney Studios a few years ago to start his own production company in Ireland,

JANE FONDA AND ROBERT DE NIRO star as two blue-collar workers who find the courage to help each other learn, live and love again in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's contemporary love story, "STANLEY & IRIS."

has completed a musical, animated tale entitled All Dogs Go To Heaven. Burt Reynolds, Loni Anderson and Dom Deluise lend their voices to this adventure about an orphan girl in 1939 New Orleans who can talk to animals.

The big Tri-Star release this season is Steel Magnolias, based on the award-winning Off Broadway play by Robert Harling. Starring, now take a deep breath here, Sally Field, Dolly Parton, Shirley MacLaine, Daryl Hannah, Olympia Dukakis, Julia Roberts, Tom Skerritt and Sam Shepard, this tale of six Southern women and their friendship over a two year period has Oscar nomination written all over it.

Dad, stars Jack Lemmon and Ted Danson as a father and son brought together by a crisis involving mother Olympia Dukakis. Hate to say it, but looks a little sappy. We'll have to see how Emmy-Award winner David Goldberg ("Family Ties") handles the material.

One sequel we have been looking forward to is Back to the Future, Part II, which reunites Michael J. Fox, Christopher Lloyd and Lea Thompson under Bob Zemeckis' direction.

It's a husband/wife effort in Kill Me Again, as Val Kilmer and Joanne Whalley-Kilmer star in a thriller about a femme fatale who hires a second-rate detective to help her fake her own death, thus escaping the clutches of a violent boyfriend.

Richard Pryor and Eddie Murphy are united for what looks like a very breezy gangster flick set in a popular New York night spot in 1938. Ed Harris and Christopher Lambert star in To Kill A Priest a based-on-fact movie about the murder of Father Jerzy Popieluszko, the Polish Solidarity priest killed in 1984.

Other November releases include Mystery Train, Jim Jarmusch's story of Japanese Elvis fans visiting Graceland and Second Sight, a locally filmed comedy about a psychic detective agency starring Bronson Pinchot and John Larraquette. Valmont, directed by Milos Forman is the story of handsome aristocrats playing at games of love and revenge, until they meet their match. Down a notch from there is Prancer starring Sam Elliott in this tale of a wounded reindeer and the little girl who thinks it's one of Santa's own.

In December we can expect a couple of blockbusters from Touchstone Pictures. Paul Newman in Blaze, the story of Louisiana Governor Earl K. Long and his real-life romance with stripper Blaze Starr, played by Lolita Davidovich. This one was written and directed by Ron Shelton ("Bull Durham"). Stella, starring Bette Midler in the title role, is an update of the Barbara Stanwyck classic "Stella Dallas."

Remember all that commotion by the vets who didn't want Jane Fonda shooting in their town? Well, that much beleaguered production, now called Stanley and Iris should make it to the screen by Christmas. Robert De Niro plays a recently widowed factory worker who can't read, Fonda is the co-worker who can, and offers to teach him.

Tom Cruise will make it on screen in time for Christmas, but in a much less glamorous role than usual, in Born on the Fourth of July the actor plays a disabled Vietnam Vet. based on the real-life experiences of Ron Kovic, this film is directed by Oliver Stone and also stars Willem Dafoe and Kyra Sedgwick.

Always should prove to be interesting as it's a remake of the Spencer Tracy/Irene Dunne/Van Johnson fantasy called "A Guy Named Joe." This time that eternal romantic triangle includes Richard Dreyfuss, Holly Hunter and John Goodman, with Steven Spielberg directing. Yet another remake stars Robert De Niro and Sean Penn as escaped convicts in We're No Angels, directed by Neil Jordan ("Mona Lisa"). Demi Moore is the woman who holds their future in her hands as they try to make it out of a small New England town and into Canada.

The long-awaited sequel to "Chinatown" should be out in mid-December. The Two Jakes was directed by Jack Nicholson, who also reprised his 1940's detective, Jake Gittes. Even if it's only half as good as the last one, this should be a treat.
